MAIL PLANES ARE OFF TODAY FOR A TRY AT MAINTAINING 28 HOUR SCHEDULE BETWEEN SAN FRANCISCO AND NEW YORK

Flier En Route from the Pacific Reaches Reno, Nevada on Schedule; No Word from Other.

NO NEWS IS GOOD

Minneapolis, Aug. 21.—The modern "pony express" took the air today.

Carrying 800 pounds of important luggage a United States mail plane left here on a trip that is expected to terminate safely in San Francisco in twenty-eight hours, carrying letters from coast to coast in the fastest time on record. A plane on a similar mission left San Francisco almost simultaneously.

The innovation of the Post office Department recalls the days of the pioneer, when men rode swift steeds in the mad rush to carry the United States mail across the plains.

The pony express rider of old hung himself from one horse onto another at relay stations, continuing his mad gallop across the continent with scarcely a halt. The pony express rider of the sky will make similar charges. At several stations scattered across the continent the mail plane will descend and its cargo will be transferred to a fresh plane with a new pilot. No one pilot or plane will make the entire trip.

Reno, Nev., Aug. 21.—Air Mail Pilot W. H. Winslow arrived here with the first bound transcontinental mail shortly before eight o'clock, Pacific time. He left San Francisco at 8:10 a. m.

He reported the flight of 200 miles from San Francisco had been devoid of incident.

Pilot William S. Blanchfield, in another De Havilland plane, waited at the air mail field and as Winslow's plane came to a stop, packages were quickly transferred to the relay plane, which immediately took off eastward with a load of but a few minutes.

Winslow reached the landing field at 7:40 a. m., Pacific time and at 7:50 Blanchfield swooped away on his eastward journey to Elko.

His pouches of mail were taken on here and one dropped off, making a total of 21 pouches in Blanchfield's care.

New York, Aug. 20.—Uncle Sam tomorrow will make his most audacious attempt at delivering transcontinental mail in record time.

From New York a plane will wing its way westward, bound for San Francisco. From San Francisco a mail plane will speed eastward for New York. The aircraft will pass one another in the center of the continent, 24 hours apart.

For five days the country will have this aerial express mail service. After that time, Uncle Sam will decide whether daily transcontinental flights are to become more routine and mail pouches to be sent from Atlantic to Pacific mail postmen.

The flight schedule approved to-night calls for 20 hours elapsed flying time on the west bound trip and 28 on the east bound. The two hours difference represents the effect the prevailing westerly winds are expected to have on an airplane at this time of year.

Seven Stopping Places. Cleveland, Chicago, Omaha, Cheyenne, Salt Lake City and Reno are the points at which the mail planes will alight to refuel or shift pilot, machine and cargo.

The only night flying will be between Chicago and Cheyenne. This piece of course will be blessed with electric lights, with incandescent lamps and even more powerful light-bulbs to guide the pilots through darkness, fog and storm.

The flying schedule, announced to-night by Postmaster Morgan, in this city, follows, all time being standard Western time.

New York 11 a. m., Eastern.
Cleveland, 4 p. m., Eastern.
Chicago, 7 p. m., Central.
Cheyenne, 4:15 a. m., Mountain.
Salt Lake City, 9 a. m., Mountain.
Reno, 2:15 p. m., Pacific.
Arrive San Francisco 4:15 p. m.

Comfortably Escorted In Plush Lounges And Easy Chairs, Miners And Operators Are Adamant

Ambassador Hotel, Atlantic City N. J., Aug. 21.—Anthracite miners and operators have reached another dead lock on the first question brought up for discussion in their renewed negotiations on wage scale.

The demand for a twenty per cent increase for cutters and a $2.00 raise for laborers met with strong resistance. Samuel B. Warriner, chairman of the Policy Committee of the employers announced today that his conference could not possibly accept the wage demand as presented. John L. Lewis, President of the United Mine Workers said the increase must be granted if the suspension of mining September 1st is to be avoided.

A report on developments sent to the United States Coal Commission for transmission to President Coolidge by the Secretary of the joint conference stated that wages were discussed but no progress made in the first meeting held here today.

The two factions resumed their deliberations here at ten o'clock this morning in the State Suite on the 12th floor of the Ambassador Hotel, high above the rolling surf, where vacationers are frolicking. The suite is luxuriously furnished with purple plush lounges and easy chairs conducive to comfort as long as they wish to stay.

WRIGHT EXPLAINS POLICY OF STATE ROAD DEPARTMENT

Harrisburg, Aug. 18.—In an interview today Paul D. Wright, Secretary of Highways, detailed the Department's policy regarding the selection of types of road construction. He referred to criticism of the Department by a Philadelphia newspaper, and declared that the Department of Highways, having in mind the conservation of the state's resources, will build pavements suited to the traffic requirements.

"This policy," he said, "is a sound one, and unassailable from the standpoint of good business sense."

Questions submitted to Mr. Wright and his answers, are as follows:

Q.—Has the Pennsylvania Department of Highways departed from the policy of building concrete roads?

A.—It has not.

Q.—Will the Department build concrete roads regardless of traffic conditions?

A.—It is the policy of the Department to construct pavements suited to the present and estimated future traffic requirements. Its specifications allows bids either on all concrete, on on concrete base with asphalt top pavement. The Department believes that it is unbusiness-like and unwise to construct a costly pavement where for 20 or 30 years to come traffic would be equally well served by a less costly pavement, such as a bituminous surface pavement, which can be put down and maintained for a very much less annual cost to the taxpayers. Most of the criticism of our policy in a recent issue of a Philadelphia newspaper is a result of the bituminous resurfacing of present stone roads, an operation which gives a serviceable pavement good for 15 to 20 years, for a character of traffic which does not justify a more costly pavement.

Q.—Have you made any investigation as to traffic conditions on various roads?

A.—The Department is making a traffic survey of the state, the purpose of which is to determine the density and character of traffic on

HELPS FOR THE MAN
WHO REALLY WANTS TO OWN A HOME

For the man who wishes to own a home, Clearfield offers several advantages:
Steady employment.
Decent wages.
Fair treatment.
Excellent schools.
Fine water.
Modern conveniences.
Good neighbors.

To help him financially Clearfield has more agencies than the majority of cities the same size, as follows:

Three progressive, strong banks.

The Home Builders Company, a non-profit organization, The Clearfield Building and Loan Association.

The Security Building and Loan Association (the organization meeting of this association will be held this evening).

And a number of substantial citizens ready to lend a hand to the man who means business.

1st Precinct of 3rd Ward and Territory Adjacent Shows Unprecedented Activity.

54 IMPROVEMENTS

The 1923 building boom has brought a strange hold on West Side citizens and about every property owner able to get hold of carpenter or bricklayer is hard at work on a building job, judging from appearances in this busiest of all busy sections.

The Boynton addition is a real bee hive of industry and while the buildings here are not as large, commodious or substantial as in some of the richer residential districts of the town the cottages and bungalows going up are all comfortable homes for their owners and are a decided asset to the community and serve to again illustrate the phenomenal growth of the town.

While in the second precinct of the Third Ward, the subject of yesterday's story, we overlooked and failed to mention the handsome two story red brick home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fenton on West Fifth Avenue, one of the best properties in that section.

Cliff Cowdrick is also erecting a two story garage, and dwelling on the rear of his lot on West Fifth Avenue.

Boynton Addition Activities.

In making our visit to that part of the West Side omitted yesterday we went out West Front street to Mill Road where John Seibenrock, Jr., is erecting a two-story frame store, business building and directly across the road Newton Fetzner has a one-story ice cream and confectionery shop under roof.

On West Front street Judd Bloom is erecting a frame garage.

Just beyond Moose Creek Perry Rowles is remodeling his two-story frame dwelling, while in the rear of the Rowles lot W. A. Tibbins is occupying a neat little two story frame dwelling he just completed.

Going north on Shaw Lane in Boynton Addition we found Ralph Fetzner occupying his recently completed cottage.

Blair Owens' two story frame house adjoined it on the north.

The Moose Creek Coal Company converted the Whitmer Steel Co. office into a neat little bungalow opposite the Owens home.

Next to Owens' is the home of J. P. Jury rear completion.

A force of carpenters under S. E. Maines is erecting a two story frame dwelling for Fred Dale while the finishing touches are being given the neat little cottages of Leonard and Kenneth Spies, just above the Dale home.

John Boalich and Ed. Solidary have frame cottages underway just beyond the Spies homes, while Wilbur Shaffer has a neat two story dwelling under roof on the next cross street.

Wade Heberling and Elmer Wall also have homes underway in this vicinity.

William Gearhart has his two story frame residence nearly completed.

William Guisewhite has the foundation ready for his residence on the same street.

J. F. Maines has erected a frame garage on the rear of his lot and T. C. Watson, has the foundation walls built for a substantial addition to his home in that same corner.

Voyal Shaw has a fine two-story residence ready for the steam fitters who are installing his heating plant, which concludes the long string of improvements in Boynton Addition.

Mill Road Spruces Up

Mill Road caught the improvement spirit also. Maurice Coudriet improves the same by the addition of a neat little cottage.

Further up the road William Dent is occupying his handsome new cottage.

M. M. Condon has replaced his

FUNERAL OF MRS. SINGLETON BELL

The funeral of Mrs. Catharine McCullough Bell, wife of Judge Singleton Bell, will be held from the Bell home on West Front street, tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. The services will be conducted by Rev. H. L. Jacobs of Trinity Methodist Episcopal church, and interment will be made in Hillcrest cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Zimmerman, of Nichols street, Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Smith, and John Gaylor motored to Olean, N. Y., Sunday to see Mr. Zimmerman's brother, Clyde, who is a patient at the Olean hospital.

EDITORIAL

That "On To Reading" Band Concert is Tuesday evening, August 28th, instead of Friday evening as stated here yesterday.

But the rest of the article was alright. We know it because it is bringing results—results in cold cash—dollars from citizens who are mighty proud of our American Legion Band and believe that it is going to walk off with the "bacon" at Reading the last of this month.

The Progress Office was hardly open this morning when the sale of tickets started and while the amount of sales today was not large, it is a beginning and there is still several days to go.

The point is, however, that we should all buy our tickets early in order to let those band men know that they are appreciated and because if we do not buy tickets before that day arrives, the committee in charge will have to adopt other methods of raising the money.

Come forward, your Progress subscribers, let us send that band to Reading.

Tickets on sale at The Progress Office NOW.

Wouldn't it be fine to announce on Tuesday that the money is all in hand?

BANDIT GANG ESCAPES WITH VALUABLE MAIL TAKEN FROM OKLAHOMA TRAIN BUT NOT UNTIL AFTER HAND TO HAND FIGHT

Bartlesville, Okla., Aug. 21.—A train rolled to a stop. A volley of bullets was then sent through the door of the mail car, forcing entrance.

C. B. Weiss and W. Burch, mail clerks, true to the traditions of their service, attempted to hold to the robbers but were severely pummeled.

After rifling the car the bandits fled westward through the hill midst pointed volleys of shots from the train crew.

The bandits slugged fireman E. T. Cowers and Engineer W. O. Killeb over the head with revolvers as the train, Kansas.

THAW RELEASED TO ENJOY ANOTHER VISIT TO MOTHER

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 21.—Harry K. Thaw, slayer of Standford White and former husband of Evelyn Nesbit who has been an inmate of the insane department of the Pennsylvania hospital, was today allowed his fourth vacation from the asylum since he was confined on May 16, 1917.

Judge Martin ordered that Thaw be released from the institution under guard of his keeper from today, August 21, to September 10. The court's action was based on a petition of Mrs. Mary C. Thaw, of Pittsburgh, the mother of Harry, setting forth that a change of environment from the routine of the hospital would be beneficial to Thaw, both as to his general health and in his treatment from a medical standpoint.

ON THE JOB FIRST FOR BAND CONCERT TICKETS

G. E. Kelly of the Singer Sewing Machine Company was the first Progress subscriber to be in for tickets this morning. He was followed by John W. Wrigley, then came Frank G. Chorpemning and J. Frank Snyder brought up the rear and took a list full. Result—$9.00.

Thanks, gentlemen, you started a good thing.

Want Sidewalks Built.

Notices to build sidewalks in front of their properties on Higher avenue were ordered served on the following property owners:—Tony Casanovi, who now lives at Woodland; James Marana, Mrs. John Bowman and Samuel Fullerton.

Want Cherry Street Paved.

Borough Solicitor Urey presented request of the citizens residing on Cherry street, in the block extending from Second street to Third street for the paving of that street, stating that while all property owners had one had signed the petition for such improvement, Council could, under the law, pave the street without petition of all or two-thirds of the property owners and assess two-thirds the cost of such improvement against the abutting properties.

Street Lighting Proposition Promoted.

The boulevard or "white way" lighting system was the topic of considerable discussion. Some time ago the property owners at the three principal corners of the town agreed to install pedestal or boulevard lights, four to a corner, provided the borough would supply the current consumed. This was agreed to by Council in the belief that the new lights would not cost over half again or at the outside twice as much as the present arc lights are costing.

The question was taken up with the Penn Public Service Company following the securing of the agreement mentioned by Chairman Ellis of the Property Committee, who had the matter in charge, and last evening Supt. A. M. Pearson, with a couple of experts on lighting from the Westinghouse people at Pittsburgh, presented the proposition of the lighting company for the proposed installation of a "white way" extending through the business district, centering at the Court House corner and extending a block or more each way. The scheme supplied with juice from underground cables. The installation, including

LAI D ON THE TABLE

Clearfield Borough Council got a stop last evening with the movement sweeping the country against the location of curb pumps for the sale of gasoline in front of automobile garages. The thing that brought matters to a head along this line was the application of Boag & Boag for permission to place a curb pump in front of their garage on Third street.

Chairman Beahan of the Highway Department recommended that the permit be issued inasmuch as permits for the establishment of many other curb pumps about town had been previously granted. Issue was taken with the statement, several councilmen stating that the present Council had refused the only request for a curb pump received the past two years.

Considerable discussion arose over the proposition, it being the general contention that Council not only had no legal right to permit the location of curb gasoline pumps on the street, but that to allow the congestion incident to the vending of gasoline on the street was dangerous and a menace to traffic. The upshot of the matter was that a resolution was adopted, which not only refused the request of Boag & Boag but directed that the owners of all pumps now installed at the curb throughout the town be directed to remove such pumps within 60 days.

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. D. C.

Some time ago three young men from the Pottersdale region, named Anderson and Kolowski, were arrested for watching a deer lick in the woods near their home. They were brought to Clearfield and placed in jail and later released when they paid their fines of $100 and $200 each. Shortly after the story of the affair, appeared in this paper we received a letter from Pottersdale, written no doubt by the father of Anderson, in which an attempt at justification of the lick watchers was made on the ground that "everybody's doing it" down there. We did not publish the communication at the time of its receipt because we desired to interview Game Protector Kelley before publishing same. In the meantime we received the following from Mr. Anderson:

what happened to his friends, by impulse fired a shot at the point of guns he is also arrested, and the officers, who apparently believe in "safety first," had this latter youth handcuffed and all three were taken to jail, one of them not even given a chance to notify his parents what happened to him.

As for the supposed confession by the youths of having sold deer meat to a meat dealer, the story is so absurd that it would be hard to make a four-year-old child believe it. Any one that knows the only two meat dealers in the vicinity knows that they are too honest and too intelligent to deal in deer meat, even if they had been given an opportunity to do so.

But all is well that ends well. Officers have been given publicity for their bravery in upholding the law, the boys have been convicted and given a heavy fine and the REAL pot-hunters can eat their venison in peace as before.

Yet there are some of us that wonder why there is so much disrespect for law in this country.

OSCAR A. ANDERSON.

Postmaster Morgan also announced that postage would be 2 cents an ounce or fraction thereof during the five days' test. Only letters specially advertised "via air mail" would be accepted, he said.

Everything was in readiness tonight for the hop-off from New York Pilot C. Eugene Johnson, who takes the air from Hazelhurst field on Long Island, was impatient for the morning. Gas, oil and water for the leg from New York to Cleveland had been taken aboard and the machine was under heavy guard in her hangar.

Tomorrow morning 24,000 "special delivery" letters carrying complimentary stamps and weighing 575 pounds will be rushed by mail truck from the New York postoffice and stowed. Then a few first edition afternoon papers will be taken on and at 11 a. m. the take-off.

Pilot Johnson took to his cot early. He planned to give his "ship" an early final inspection. The air mail service reported today that in 6,000,000 miles of flight with cargo up to July 1 there was only one fatality. The percentage of efficiency was 96, according to postoffice officials, who compared the record of the air mail with that of one of the largest railroad carriers which operated its passenger trains only 93 per cent of schedule during the same period.

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Amick of Akron, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Smith, of Washington, D. C., are visiting H. V. Feight of Pine street.

poles, fixtures, cables, etc., to be paid for by the property owners at the rate of anywhere from $2 to $2.75 per front foot. The installation, after being placed, would then become the property of the light company, which would hereafter maintain same in proper shape and supply all renewals and repairs. The style of poles or post decided upon by Council and such as is installed in front of the Clearfield Trust Company, requires not less than a 400 candle power lamp and should have 600 candle power lights to give proper satisfaction. The light for each 400 candle power lamp would cost the home owner $10 per year and a 600 candle power lamp $15 per year.

The present air lights are costing $62 each per year. The total cost of street lighting now per year is approximately $4,800. Under the proposed plan of the Penn Public Service Company, with the "white way" installed, the total light bill of the borough would amount to $4,800.

After discussing the proposition from every angle, a motion was made to lay the question on the table and same was unanimously adopted.

Claims Tree Are in Roadway.

Newton P. Schucker, of William street, presented a claim for $8 damages for repairs to his automobile which hit a piece of ballast along the railroad track and was thrown over against a shade tree at corner of William and Nichols streets, which complainant states is allowed to remain in the roadway beyond the curb line and interferes with traffic. The claim was referred to Councilman Callahan for adjustment and report.

Front Street Paving Done. Chairman Behan of Highway Department reported completion of Front street paving and said the street would be opened as soon as it had properly "cured."

DRIVER BARTLEY USED HIS HEAD

A little more evidence on that near-collision between two fire trucks on Sunday morning shows that Driver Clyde Bartley of the Second Ward truck, used exceptional skill in avoiding the smash-up as he not only had to dodge the ladder wagon but was forced to run his truck up over the curb to avoid hitting a boy who was coming down Third street on a bicycle. The situation being further complicated by a pedestrian attempting to cross the street as the fire trucks reached the corner. Driver Bartley is an experienced, cool headed driver, as was demonstrated by the manner in which he got through this maze of difficulties without damage or injury to anyone.

PLAY PARTY AT REEDSVILLE

Reedsville is having the last play party of the summer Wednesday evening both on the playground and at the Rose House. Fire Company No. 2 which has been the unofficial but active men's committee on Community Service in that part of town is definitely named host on this occasion with the regular Woman's Community Service committee which always takes charge of its part on these neighborhood affairs. There is a definite money object this time—to pay the lumber bill on the little shelter house which was erected at the beginning of the season. There will be the usual program—games with the visiting teams of other playgrounds, both boys and girls. The nights are cool now so there will be bon-fires from which the boys are gathering wood now. The out-door part of the party will last from seven till nine, after which the elders will repair to the Rose house for square dancing. Though the music is given gratis, dancers will be tagged for a small sum, the money going into the Reedsville C. S. Treasury. It is needless to state that the invitation is extended to the town.

PLAYGROUND NEWS

The lanterns which the Electric Supply Company is kindly displaying have been made by the children on the playgrounds. They are practically all original as none had ever made any before, and show much artistic ability.

It is a dangerous thing to overlook a schedule game—at least so the East End base ball team discovered when they suffered a bad defeat at the hands of Witmer Park yesterday afternoon. It seems that several of the prime players had gone black-berrying. The base ball schedule should be well known to every man on every team for each game is more than ever important now at the end of the season. A game well played and lost is no one's fault but ignorance of the scheduled games is no excuse and a game lost that way is more than lost. It is up to every boy to find out and remember exactly when every remaining game comes—and be there.

The attendance record now stands at 15,766 for playgrounds alone. The figures speak plainly enough without any comment.

PHILLIPS-RICHARDS

Yesterday afternoon in Trinity Methodist church, the pastor, Rev. H. L. Jacobs, married in the presence of relatives, Arthur Phillips, of Morgan Run, and Zelma Grace Richards, of Reftort. Mr. and Mrs. Phillips, accompanied by their friends, autoed to their new home, thoroughly furnished in West Decatur, where they will be at home to their friends.

AUDITOR GENERAL FINDS BANKING DEPARTMENT O. K.

Harrisburg, Pa., Aug. 21.—Auditor General Lewis today announced that he has completed the audit of the banking department, the first of the 1922 investigations which are being made in the fiscal department of the state's government.

"All receipts of money, including interest on bank deposits, seized for examination, in case receipts of steamship companies, small money lenders and others were found to have been correctly accounted for," the audit report states.

Other departments now in course of investigation by the auditor general are Treasury, Insurance and Worker's Compensation funds.

TAG DAY

The Tag Day total is now $188.65 with the palm to West Side, the sales from that ward being $55.22. The people who support this movement are quite right in expecting that those for whom so much is being done will do something to help them selves, and the hard work on Tag Day is one of the answers.

Women suffering from female troubles causing backache, irregularities, pains, bearing-down feelings and weakness should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Not only is the worth of this splendid medicine shown by such cases as this, but for nearly fifty years this same sort of experience has been reported by thousands of women.

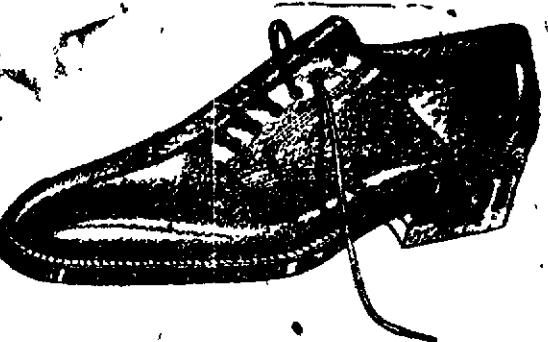

Mrs. Sevcik is willing to write to any girl or woman suffering from such troubles, and answer any questions they may like to ask.

Removal of curb gasoline pumps is a step in the right direction, but it ought to be said that it is a step that should never have been necessary had "somebody" been on the job a few years ago. Time was when a gas pump of two dnt on the main streets did not seem to hurt anybody and many were content. It is unfortunate indeed that owners must now be put to the expense of removing them but to put it off any longer simply bucking the inevitable.

A great deal of money and trouble could be saved for everybody, individuals, business men, and taxpayers generally, if there was a little more looking into the future.

Recently there has been considerable activity towards boulevard lighting; a very proper improvement which will add thousands of dollars to the wealth of the city and millions to the opinion that outsiders will form of the city when they pass through it.

Some of the equipment is on the ground but not yet installed. We do not know why it is not yet installed and have little concern with that feature of the proposition anyhow.

What we would like to know, and what will save some money later, is whether or not the type of installation, as to wiring and the location of the posts, with reference to the sidewalk and streets (which latter will undoubtedly be widened in the near future) is suitable for a comprehensive lighting scheme without doing the whole work of installing over again.

The proper councilmanic committee should make a statement to the public on these points.

One need look no further for signs of general prosperity among a people or for evidence of the right kind of citizenship in the first precinct of the Third Ward and that territory lying adjacent to that precinct in Lawrence Township, where no less than a half hundred are now engaged in the direction of homes and making improvements to property they already own.

It is no sign of community weal when a handsome mansion shall here or there or a whole block of pretentious residences rear their roofs skyward. That is only a sign that the gods have avowed someone or that an estate has been divided. It adds little to the city but appearance and an increased valuation.

The really wonderful and beneficial thing about this section of the city covered in J. D. C.'s story on the front page today, is that practically without exception, the homes being built and the improvements being made, are owned by laboring people, if not for wages and salary, for themselves at the several occupations at which man is both employer and the employee.

In every sense they are homes, hallowed places where future Clearfielders are being raised to citizenship, with the proper ideals of home owning and family protection.

It would indeed be a worth-while trip for Clearfielders to take a run over through that section of our rapidly growing city and see how they are doing things for the city.

Congratulations, you West Siders, we'll soon have to move the Borough Building over that way.

MARYLAND FARMERS WILL GET TOGETHER

Progress in Organization Attracting Much Attention.

Less than three months ago the farmers of Maryland launched the Maryland Farm Bureau federation. Today there are 12 strongly organized county farm bureaus with 125 local organizations, which the state and with an approximate membership of 6,500 paid-up members.

This progress in farm organization is attracting widespread attention throughout the country for it shows a strong undercurrent of optimism and determination of farmers to get together and pull themselves out of the present economic quagmire.

Each farmer has paid a $10 membership in his organization and it is estimated that there will be over 10,000 farmers working together in the state organization by the end of the year.

According to M. Molein Stewart, secretary and treasurer of the state organization, one of the big projects which is interesting to the farm people of the state at this time is co-operative egg marketing. A state-wide survey of the egg and poultry situation is being started.

Plans have been made to market Maryland's egg crop this year through the Atlantic Coast Poultry Producers' association and when 100,000 hens are represented in the county egg association of Maryland which are to be formed, the Maryland state exchange will be perfected with a branch sales agency at Baltimore.

The Maryland Farm Bureau federation is to take the lead in the organization of the county egg shipping units. Co-operative grading, handling and shipping are included in the plan. The climatic conditions of the Atlantic seaboard are especially conducive to poultry raising and the egg marketing industry has for years been one of major importance to Maryland farmers. The success of the New Jersey poultry producers who got together in a co-operative way, and which movement later developed into the Atlantic Coast Poultry Producers' association, furnishes a demonstration that the Maryland and poultry products can profit by uniting with the Atlantic coast group.

The Maryland Farm Bureau federation believes in coupling up its activities with the co-operative marketing movement which is attracting such wide interest at the present time. Although not generally considered a large wheat growing state, Maryland farmers had wheat growing its into crop rotation plan very well and they are now taking steps toward better grain marketing. They are also considering a live stock survey looking toward co-operative live stock selling as a part of the program. The Maryland Farm Bureau federation is also extending its social and financial support to a campaign of the tobacco growers of the state to increase their membership in the Maryland Tobacco Growers' association.

The farm bureau movement in Maryland has its conception in one of the nation's greatest farm bureaus, the successful county farm bureaus of Ohio and West Virginia. With over half a century of Maryland history, the county farm bureaus have been established with a state farm bureau organization. Maryland farmers are the perfect of a plan toward which they have been looking for the generations.

E. P. Conley of Washington county is president of the state organization and Mr. M. M. Stewart of Anne Arundel county is secretary. Both of these men have been placed upon a committee, appointed by Gov. Albert G. Ritchie, which committee is to help to formulate a definite program for the general welfare of the agricultural interests of the state. Secretary Stewart is helping the counties in perfect strong farm bureau local organizations and in this is securing the co-operation of local grange organizations already established and the endorsement of the state agricultural extension experts and county workers.

SELL FIRST IRISH POTATOES

Twenty Minutes Was Time Required to Complete Deal by Louisiana Farm Bureau.

The first crop of Irish potatoes sold under the newly formed Louisiana Farm Bureau Irish Potato Growers' exchange was shipped by the Houma association of Terrebonne Parish, according to A. G. Hamilton, sales manager of the exchange. The potatoes were sold to a St. Louis firm, on a basis of 100 bushels, the time required to complete the sale by wire being approximately 20 minutes from the time that the head office was notified that the car was being loaded.

A cargo of 12 mechanical graders have been ordered for the exchange through the purchasing department of the state farm bureau, and every carload of potatoes shipped will be graded. One grader goes to each of the 12 local associations federated in the exchange.

The various locals have also placed orders through the farm bureau for 60,000 potato bags, which are now being distributed. Regular shipments will be made by the exchange from this time forward until the Louisiana crop is marketed. It is anticipated. The exchange has approximately 200 carloads under contract, and indications now are that fancy prices will be received owing to the general shortage of the spring crop.

POLICEMAN HAS A GRIEVANCE

Asks Plaintively How He Can Be Supposed to Know How Fast One Can Walk.

"How far can you walk in five minutes?" asked the policeman.
"Oh, I don't know. A block, two blocks, three maybe."

"Maybe four or five," supplemented the policeman. "But maybe somebody else, who isn't as young as you are, could only walk one."

"Now what I'm getting at is this: People are all the time coming up to me and asking to be directed to some place. And when I point the way they invariably ask, 'How long a walk is it?'"

"Well, that's all right if it's only a short distance. Then I can count up the number of blocks in my head and tell them. But if it's further I say it's a 10-minute walk or a 20-minute walk. But the trouble is how am I going to know how fast they walk? It's a proposition. A man will ask where some store is, and when I tell him he's way past it he gets mad and says that a fellow back there told him it was a 15-minute walk. While another will not be anywhere near the place he's going to, but when I tell him that he'll say, 'But a man down the line said it was only a six-minute walk!'"

An old lady interrupted the policeman at this point, inquiring the way to Blank square.

"Straight ahead, ma'am. You can't miss it."

"Is it far?" asked the old lady.

"About a ten-minute walk."

He watched her stride away, her little legs moving at an amazing speed for one so aged.

"Now look at her," exclaimed the policeman. "Who would have thought she'd walk like that? She'll be there within three minutes, but she'll go right on and not stop till she's walked ten. Some people are so literal."

FACTS ABOUT "SEA ANIMALS"

Interesting Information Given by Writer—Oysters and Their Enemies—Limpet's Moring Instinct.

In "Animals of the Sea," F. Martin Duncan, F. Z. S., tells the reader that young oysters enjoy but 48 hours' freedom as moving creatures; then they settle down for life. Among the oyster's enemies is the starfish. An invasion of "five-fingers" will sometimes destroy a whole bed of oysters in a single night. Some most interesting points gleaned from this book include:

The female lobster has been known to produce 100,000 eggs at a time. Limpets go off traveling expeditions at night, but by a wonderful homing instinct, return to exactly the same spot on their "home" rock. Whelks have from 220 to 250 teeth each, the wrinkle possesses a set of 8,500, but the dental outfit of the "Cyllindrella Shell" is 750,000 teeth. The sea urchin has four different kinds of spines, each with a specialized function: weapons, poison-bearing, "cleavers," and cleaners. A giant clam will weigh 550 pounds. A 54-pound ling was found to possess 28,361,000 eggs.

Fail in Love After Marriage.

Ye Ling-Tung, the Chinese scholar, said at a Boston dinner party: "You Americans let your young people, full in love, and afterward they marry. We Chinese, on the other hand, marry our young people, and let them afterward get acquainted. You prefer your ways to ours, and certainly your way does produce the most divorces."

"The two ways," Mr. Ling-Tung went on, "might be compared to two kettles of water. The first kettle—yours—is taken at boiling point from the fire by marriage, and it cools off very rapidly. The second—ours—is a kettle of cold water which marriage puts on the fire, and ever afterward it keeps getting warmer and warmer, so that, at the end of 50 years or so, all Chinese couples are madly in love."—Behoboth Sunday Herald.

Odd Method of "Saving."

Rosa Bonheur used to say that her youth was one of great poverty; then she would add some groll stories about the family method of regulating its finances. The story was a collection of odds and ends and M. Bonheur knew how to turn that disorder to account.

When he received money for his work he would take a handful of coin and throw it at random about the room. Then in times of stress, when there was apparently not a sou left in the house, the entire family would set to work searching in nooks and corners. Sometimes they would find a five-franc piece, and that would ward off starvation.

What He Wondered.

The happy family were seated around the table eating their dinner when Bobby, the youngest son, broke the silence by asking:

"Dad, could a measuring worm measure the inside of your stomach?"

"Why do you ask such a silly question while we are eating?" spoke the father.

"Oh, nothing; only I just wondered if that one that was on the lettuce you just ate would measure your stomach."

Black—Was Miss Scollons embarrassed when you made that faux pas at the dance last night?
Blue—That's rather hard to say. She had so much paint on her face that I couldn't tell whether she was blushing or not.

REDUCTION IN PRICES

BY WILLYS-OVERLAND

Notification of Cut in Willys-Overland Line Surprises Motor Industry.

Toledo, Ohio, August 18.—John N. Willys, President of the Willys-Overland Company, Toledo, Ohio, today issued a rare in automobile circles by his announcement of immediate price reductions and great improvements in the 1923 Willys-Overland lines.

This action embracing a drop in price on the Willys-Knight touring and roadster models from $1285 to $1175; F. O. B. factory and on the Willys-Knight Coupe Sedan from $1695 to $1550, came as a distinct surprise to the automobile industry and motoring public in view of the advance in price made by not a few manufacturers in announcing their 1924 models.

The new values in Willys-Knight and Overland cars are the direct result of the wonderful sales and production records made by the Willys-Overland Company this year, eclipsing any previous period in its history, which determined the officials of the company to share with the public the appreciable saving in costs made possible by an enormous increase in business.

Mr. Willys added that in every detail all the advantages of the Willys-Knight car have been retained, while improvements have been added, making this car, powered with the famous Willys-Knight sleeve-valve motor, a bigger value than ever before.

This announcement has great significance because it marks a new valuation record for automotive products in the face of a generally rising market in raw materials.

PIANO MAKERS BEHIND WITH ORDERS

The Casper, Wyoming Tribune, mentions a former Clearfield boy L. J. Gulich, of Third Ward, in the following item:

"Leading piano makers throughout the east including all those represented by the Chas. E. Wells Music company, are behind in their orders, and working overtime to supply the demand, according to L. E. Gulich, Casper manager for the Chas. E. Wells Music company, who has returned with Mrs. Gulich from a tour lasting over a month, during which he inspected many factories.

At Boston Mr. Gulich visited the home of the Chittenden piano company, still used in the perfection of instruments for which many companies have substituted machines. The Amico recording rooms were visited in New York City, the Haines Bros. and Franklin piano factories at East Rochester, N. Y., and the Kurtzman piano plant at Buffalo. On his return Mr. Gulich visited the Gulbransen piano factory at Chicago, the largest in the United States. All these makes are handled in Casper by the Wells company. The factory inspection proved highly interesting to Mr. Gulich, who is an accomplished pianist with keen appreciation for the business from an artist's standpoint.

During his trip east he visited relatives and transacted business for the Wells company, getting a line on new models and improvements which will revert to the benefit of both the firm and its many patrons."

Progress Editorial For Women

NO MEDALS FOR THESE

By FLORENCE DAVIES

The United States army gives medals for bravery.

So does the Carnegie Hero Fund.

But there are some kinds of courage which never win any medals.

The other day a woman saved a life with this kind of courage, but her name will never appear on the front page of a paper and no one will ever pin a medal on her breast.

She had courage enough not to mind her own business. She didn't call it that. She says it in the vernacular: I had the nerve to butt in, is the way she puts it. "It takes courage sometimes to pick being told to mind your own business. But I am willing to risk being sat on, if once in a while I can be of real help to another."

It seems that the baby across the street never thrived. The months went by and the child grew paler and thinner and more sickly. She was virtually fading away before the eyes of every one and no one seemed to be able to do anything about it. Then she had trouble with her teeth.

"And," said the woman who didn't mind her own business, "I positively knew that something was wrong with her food. I could see from the looks of her, and the size of her and the fact that her teeth weren't getting the elements that should be in them. Her mother adored her, but didn't know how to feed her, that was all."

"And so," explained the woman who has courage, "I just walked across the street and told that woman what I knew about babies from having three of my own, and from battling to save one that everyone said would never live."

"I didn't know the woman very well; in fact, I just had a nodding acquaintance. But I went right over and rang the bell anyhow. We talked babies for an hour and a baby specialist is studying the diet of the child and the roses are now last beginning to bloom in her cheeks. So there is once where courage paid."

Handing out free advice is dangerous business. Most people do not like it. They prefer to do things in their own way and for that matter, they have a perfect right to do so.

Perhaps they have learned to dread the neighborhood neighbor who type of woman who never suffers from a lack of courage when it comes to "butting in." Her community consciousness and sense of public responsibility have fairly run wild and she goes to seed. And so she defeats her own purpose because when it comes to "butting in," she has come to dread it.

But what if the people who aren't a bit afraid to go out of their way to help when the occasion really demands it. Half the time you may find that your help is scorned.

WILL CONDUCT POPPY SALE

Auxiliary to Co-Operate With Legions in Campaign—All Urged to Wear Flower on Memorial Day.

"Wear a poppy on Memorial day." This is the message to all good Americans from Mrs. Edna M. Barcus of Indianapolis, Ind., chairman of the American Legion Auxiliary poppy campaign committee. The auxiliary has decided to co-operate with the Legions in the campaign which is to be conducted a few days prior to May 30.

The poppies—silken replicas of the real flower—bearing the official emblem of the American Legion, are to be sold in a public campaign opening a few days before Memorial day. Funds obtained from this source will be used by local posts of the American Legion for service work, erection of memorials, and for donations to the $101,000 endowment fund providing annual decoration of graves of American dead in Europe. A certain portion of this fund which will accrue to national headquarters of the Legion will be devoted to their service work, in caring for the claims of disabled and troubled men, seeking relief through the agency of the Legion's national offices.

Mrs. Edna M. Barcus.

In a recent message to members of the 5,700 units of the auxiliary scattered throughout the United States, Mrs. Barcus said:

"I know that in your hearts you are anxious to show that you remember our glorious dead; that you are anxious to pay a tribute of respect and admiration for those who fought in the war. Let us on Memorial day unite in a spirit of splendid brotherhood, and patriotism and in outward sign, in memory of those who, fulfilling the noblest traditions of their country, have written another beautiful chapter in American history. The poppy of Flanders is a fitting emblem to perpetually remind us and unflinchingly teach coming generations the debt to those who valiantly saved the light of liberty for us."

LEGION HOME FOR ORPHANS

Kansas Organization Is Offered $50 Acres and $25,000 Cash Toward Proposed Institution.

As a memorial to his two sons who died in the service of their country with the Thirty-fifth division, Daniel Diney of Independence, Kan., has offered the American Legion of Kansas $50 acres of land and $25,000 in cash as a start toward the erection of a Legion home for the orphans of ex-servicemen and women. Mr. Diney is an oil man and has taken this method of expressing his better in the Legion and of paying fitting tribute to his sons and their comrades-at-arms who gave the lives for their country.

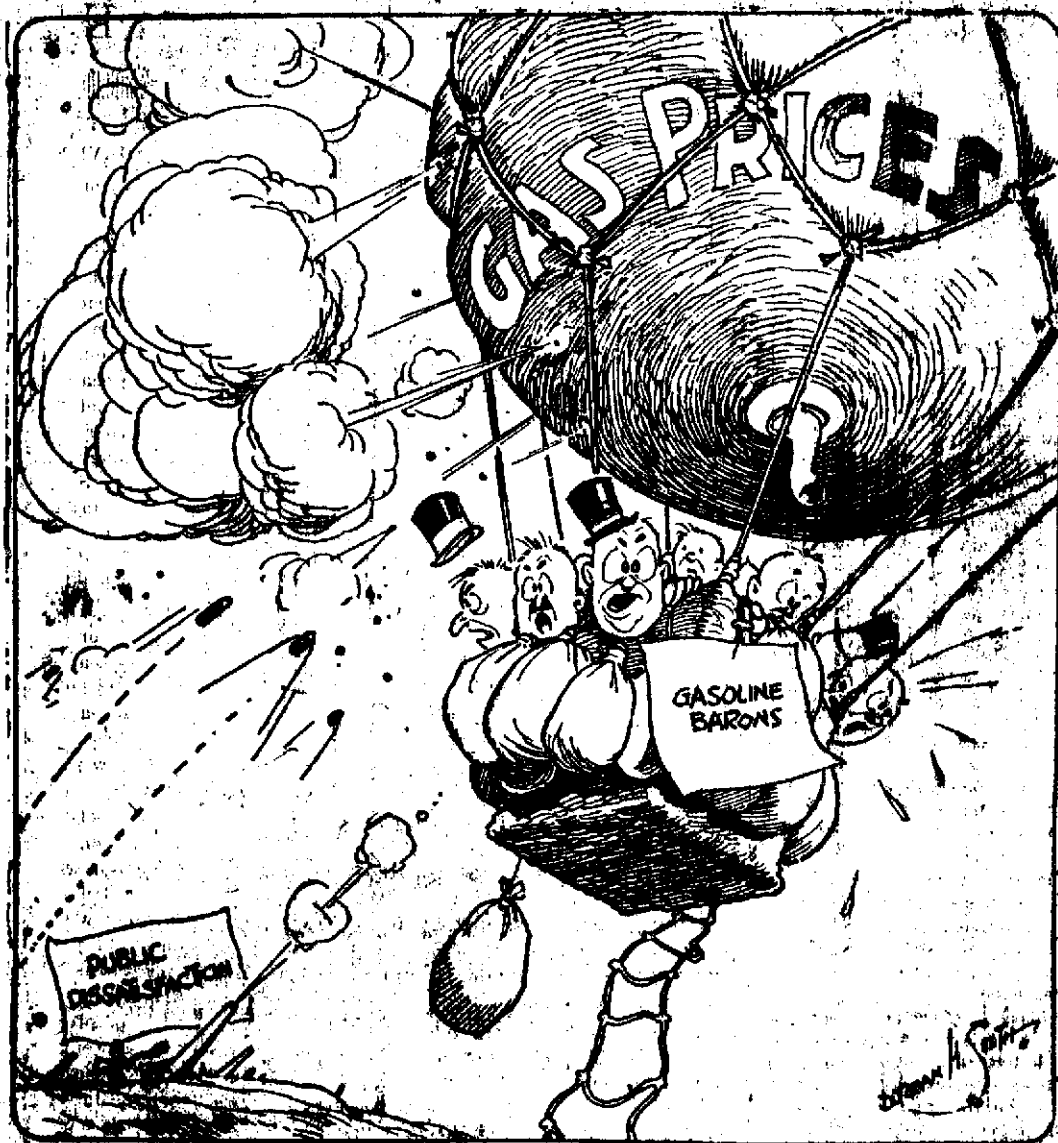

"The Kansas department of the Legion is inspired by Mr. Diney's gift," says Commissioner W. P. MacLean, "to remove doubt in behalf of the children. It has long been a dream of the Legion to undertake some constructive program for the establishment of an orphan's home, and this gift makes a realization of the dream seem immediately possible."

"Here is a chance," says MacLean, "to do something big for the Legion and for Kansas. The national headquarters of the Legion is already considering the proposition of establishing a national orphan's home. It has appointed an orphan's home committee of which a Kansas man is chairman. Kansas can get something that will focus the attention and hold the hearts of the Legion to Kansas to a vastly greater extent, and that is the home and training school for our Legion children. We can get it by taking advantage of this big start that has been offered to us by Mr. Diney, and by going to work at once and establishing a school that will soon be recognized, taken over and supported by the national organization."

A citizens' committee at Independence has been organized and has offered its services in co-operation toward obtaining a fund to erect the first building on the site. The proposed orphanage would be composed of several cottages instead of one large building, with the idea of making it a home rather than a formal institution, under the plans now being considered.

HEARD ALONG THE BANKS OF THE MOSHANNON

Harry Diney, of this place, was arrested for stealing a car during the firemen's convention at Clearfield and later was found to have a still in an isolated section of Rush township, and was also arrested for violating the liquor-law. Monday he was given a hearing before Justice of the Peace Thomas Bryan and placed under $1,500 bail. On visiting the place where the still was located the police found 150 pounds of sugar, three barrels of mash and other ingredients used in making the poisonous concoction.

Tony Lake, who resides near the port, and who was paroled by Judge

Swigley, of Bellefonte, for driving a car while intoxicated, was again picked up by police here driving his car all over the local streets Sunday. He also tried to make his car ascend a telephone pole. He was taken to Bellefonte Monday afternoon by Chief of Police Brink and will have to talk to the judge about it.

The Swarthmore Chautauqua closed its week of entertainment in Philipsburg Monday evening with a full tent of enthusiastic patrons. A fine musical program was rendered, while Opie Read delivered a fine message on "Human Nature and Politics."

houses destroyed by fire last fall with a comfortable little two story dwelling.

William D. Dale, who also lost his home in last fall's fire, replaced it with another this summer.

Grover Hubler added a commodious front porch to his home adjoining Dale's.

W. A. Reicherberger is erecting a frame dwelling on the extra lot at his place.

Paul Morrison has a cellar dug out ready for the masons to begin the house. The new building, which will be of his home, just above Billy Carter's.

Arnell Fister has completed and just moved into a neat little two story frame home, across the road from the Morrison property.

Paradise Road Shines

The Paradise road, or extension of Turnpike Avenue, which has been improving rapidly since the paving was completed a couple of years ago, is again the scene of a most noteworthy improvement, which is also a barometer of the town's growth in a business way. This is the enlargement of the Collins green house plant. W. A. Collins, the proprietor, is adding to his plant by the erection of an additional outdate green house. The new building, which will contain the very latest equipment, is 32x180 feet in size. It is already under roof and will add considerably to the capacity of Mr. Collins' overtaxed plant.

He also added a two story addition to his residence, is building a handsome big portico and will have the completed property situated, which will make the Collins' greenhouse property one of the show places of that section.

Carl Cochran has the foundation ready for his new home just beyond the Clearfield hospital.

Beyond the Collins place, Charles Pool has just completed a two story frame cottage.

Frank Fulton is also erecting a frame cottage beyond the Pool home. Walter Fargo has added a story to the rear of his frame dwelling opposite the hospital.

McBride street residents couldn't resist the general improvement in the community and George Carter built a two story addition to his home at the upper end of this street.

His brother Lee Carter, adjoining property, found idle carpenters enough to supply him with a neat new front porch.

Grover Fetzer also improved his property with a new front porch this summer.

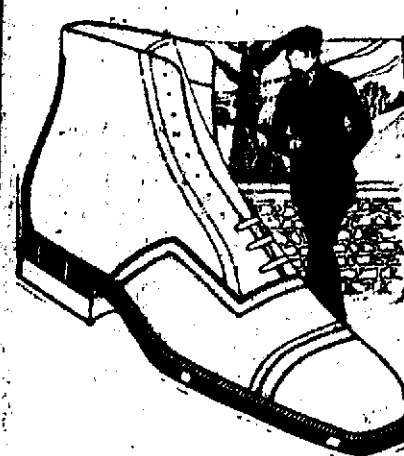

Barclay Street Also In It

Some worth while improvements are being made on Barclay street. Starting at the north end we find two neatly appointed frame bungalows erected by Lewis Demi, both of which were occupied as soon as finished a few weeks ago.

Ed Wheeler is putting the finishing touches to his frame bungalow.

Above Barclay street Sylvan Williams added to the future beauty of Hannah street by erecting a pretty little frame bungalow with his work shop to house his taxidermist shop just beyond.

Martin Street Has Two

But two new dwellings are underway on Martin street and both of these are the property of Emmitt Lease. They are brick cases. The brick work is completed on the house on the north side of the street, while that on the south side is about ready for the brick.

Two Big Construction Jobs

Contractor Ashley Rishell is well along with his big addition to or second unit of the Clearfield Textile Company's plant on Turnpike avenue. This addition, which was referred to at length when the contract was awarded last fall when completed before the snow flies, will increase the capacity of the silk velvet mill almost one-half and will be a big addition to the town.

West Side Church

"Walking Right Up"

Contractors Hobaugh, of Butler, Pa., who have the contract for the erection of the West Side Methodist congregation's $150,000 brick church, are progressing rapidly with the work. In fact one can see the new edifice "walking right up," the brick layers being well along with the brick work for the first floor.

While enthusiastically energetic in forwarding the material development of their church, this hardworking congregation refuses to take a chance on slowing the devil to get the jump on them while engrossed in their building and have a frame tabernacle under roof on Nichols street adjoining Boyce's store.

On the upper end of Nichols street Richard E. Shaw has started the foundation for his new home which he will erect at corner of West Seventh avenue and Nichols street.

Frank Thompson this summer added a frame garage to his property at corner of Martin and Park street, Merrill Street Garage Nearly Ready

The new brick garage and storage warehouse of W. B. Holmes, Jr., located at the corner of Merrill and William streets, is rapidly nearing completion under direction of Contractor Cliff Cowdrick. This building is 50x100 feet in size, two stories in height and will be a big addition to the section of town.

The development of the West Side Methodist church has been simply marvelous, as the long list of this year's improvements, printed yesterday and yesterday, plainly shows.

Is old Clearfield in her stride headed for the 20,000 goal within five years? Well! We'll say she is.

One of the other wards will be taken up tomorrow.

Mrs. Clair Dufford, who underwent an operation for appendicitis at the Clearfield hospital on Wednesday, is improving very nicely at this writing.

the various roads. The first extensive count was taken in May; the second in July. These gave us an idea of the Spring and Summer traffic. Other counts will be made during the fall and winter.

Q—What is the object of this traffic census?

A—Simply to determine the type of road necessary not only to carry traffic at this time, but in the future. The survey will include an estimate of the future traffic density and its character, taking into consideration the feeding from adjoining territory and the future industrial, mining, agricultural and other influences.

Q—What is your idea in resurfacing some of the present macadam roads with bituminous surface?

A—This improvement, where justified by present and estimated future light traffic requirements, will enable the state to improve more miles of roads and lift more people out of the mud than if the money were all concentrated in the construction of costly highways.

Q—Isn't it safe to assume that a costly road some day will be the right type, no matter what present conditions may be?

A—It is ridiculous to assume that roads of costly type are necessary in Pennsylvania. I have in mind a contract awarded in Pennsylvania in 1919 for three and a quarter miles of 18-foot concrete with five foot shoulders. This short road section is a concrete island in an otherwise entirely unimproved highway 45 miles long. It was built at a cost of $186,715.25. For miles on either side of it is a narrow, rocky road; and this 18-foot improvement, equipped with concrete horse troughs, stands out like a sore thumb. That the type is entirely too costly for the traffic which uses the highway is evidenced by the traffic census for May and July. The average daily traffic over this improvement in May was 100 cars, of which nine were trucks. The average daily traffic in July was 175 cars, of which 20 were trucks. A bituminous surface treated macadam road would be sufficient on that route; and at 1919 prices $158,715 would have built eight miles of such road, thus giving a hard surfaced road to many more people; in other words eliminate eight miles instead of three miles of mud road. It is just as absurd to say that all pavements should be constructed of concrete as to say that because 13-ton trucks are permitted by law to operate on the State highways that everybody who needs a truck should buy a 13-ton truck whether it is in excess of need or not.

Q—What is the yearly cost of bituminous surfaced macadam roads?

A—The method followed by the mathematicians of the Philadelphia newspaper in figuring the cost of maintenance, interest, sinking fund and total yearly cost on bituminous surfaced macadam roads is subject to a little criticism. In the first place these mathematicians assumed 10 years as the life of such a road. As a matter of fact under light traffic and with adequate maintenance these roads will last 20 years (the average would be in the neighborhood of 15 years.) When the mathematicians came to the interest charge, in spite of the fact that they had provided for yearly deduction for sinking fund purposes, they figure the yearly interest charge on the full cost for the entire life of the pavement, which is hardly proper.

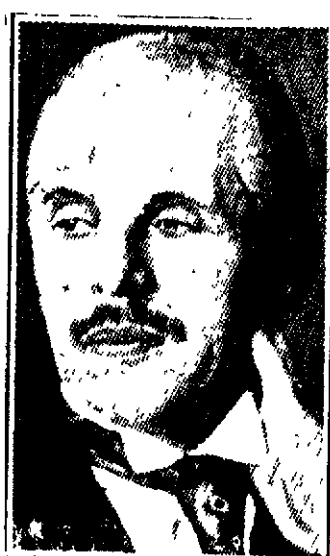

Q—What method of calculation would you suggest?

A—The correct way would be to figure the interest each year on the cost, less the total sinking fund deductions up to that year which include the usual three per cent interest on the sinking fund. But when the newspaper experts added their items they made their total $14,184 as the annual cost per mile, instead of $4,184. Our method of figuring would be: Original cost, $21,150; yearly sinking fund charge, for 15 years, $1,137; average yearly interest charge $1,058; yearly maintenance cost, $500. This is a total of $2,695, as compared with the Philadelphia newspaper's total of $14,184. Instead of leaving a debt of $2,465,000, as stated by the newspaper, the debt would all be paid off. This, of course, is all elementary, and it is unfortunate that the people of the state were misinformed.

Q—What do you suggest for heavy traffic?

A—There is no doubt whatever that for heavy traffic requirements the best is none too good, and this Department believes that concrete, or asphalt, or granite block on a concrete base, represent the most practical types of durable pavement that can be constructed.

Q—What do you say as to the suitability of asphalt on a concrete base for state highway purposes?

A—I have only to point to the fact that asphalt pavements have been in use for more than forty years in practically every large city in the country, New York and Philadelphia included, under the most severe traffic duty. And so far as we have been able to find out, no concrete base six inches thick has ever failed from compression even though the standard practice in most cities is a mix of 1-3-6, instead of the stronger mix of 1-1½-5 used by the Highway Department.

ment for concrete base purposes.

Q—What is the life of an asphalt pavement?

A—There are asphalt pavements twenty to forty years old that have not been resurfaced and are in good condition. Concrete has not had so long a test, but except in the case of repairing we consider it to be equally as good in every respect. We believe in our policy of alternate bids that the Department is justified in awarding contracts for asphalt on a concrete base when the asphalt price is the lower.

Q—The Philadelphia newspaper refers to the "changed policy" of the Department in constructing bituminous surfaced roads. What do you say as to that?

A—Because we are openly contracting for the resurfacing of bituminous surfaced roads as opposed to the practice of the past administration of resurfacing this type of road with its own maintenance organization, attention is called to the fact that such work is being done. The policy of the Department now is to do this work by contract wherever the nature of it is such that careful estimates can be made and, therefore, close competitive bidding obtained. I think most everyone realizes that work performed by forces of the state, or of any political subdivision, can be performed more economically and efficiently by private business agencies, provided this work is of a nature that will permit of competitive bidding.

The past administration constructed with its own maintenance forces approximately 800 miles of bituminous surfaced macadam roads. The cost of performing this work and the fact that this character of road was being quite generally constructed did not get to the public notice because it was performed by the maintenance forces.

Q—Has the Pennsylvania Department of Highways any knowledge of the Bates Test Road built by the Illinois Highway Department?

A—Out in Illinois they have been conducting an interesting and exhaustive series of tests on various forms of hard surfaced roads. There has resulted much information of value, most of which confirms existing opinions, although developing some new theories. It has been watched by us with much interest. A representative of the Department reof the present administration of the Department of Highways. For traffic heavy in character and frequent in number a costly type of pavement is justified. A less costly pavement, however, will in many cases answer all the requirements for traffic light in character and infrequent in number. The policy of constructing pavements suited to the traffic requirement is a sound one, and unassailable from the standpoint of good business sense.

The Motor Oil

for summer runs

THINK of the incessant punishment your motor oil takes on a two-hundred-mile tour, as compared with its easy task over the average twenty or thirty miles you drive daily about town!

Atlantic engineers offer you complete motor protection in the longer-lasting, higher-heat-resisting oil they've recently perfected. Atlantic will not break down under long-continued exposure to the terrific heat of the motor. It means better sheathing of cylinder walls; better separation of bearing surfaces; better sealing of pistons—a smoother-running, better-powered, longer-lasting repairless motor.

Are not these things worth asking definitely for Atlantic Motor Oil? Easy to buy—thousands of dealers sell it.

Atlantic dealers have the official Atlantic guide as to the correct type of oil for your motor—Atlantic Medium, Atlantic Heavy, Atlantic Special Heavy, or Atlantic Polarine.

Mud Slide In the Missouri River Deprives Omaha of Drinking Water Supply

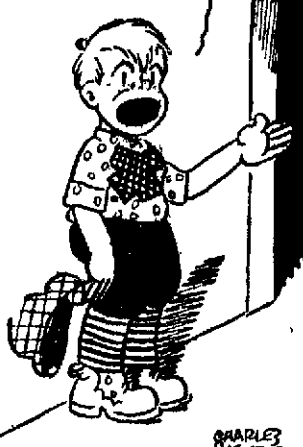

Omaha, Neb., Aug. 21.—A serious water famine was caused here today when a mud bank in the Missouri River caved in just about the intake pipes at the Florence pumping station, filling all city mains with muddy water.

The mud was so thick all laundries in the city were forced to close. Many other industries will be forced to suspend.

A near riot occurred at Elmwood Park, where several thousand persons gathered around the seven artesian wells for drinking water.

THE CLEARFIELD PROGRESS, CLEARFIELD, PA., TUESDAY EVENING, AUGUST 21, 1923.

MAIL PLANES ARE OFF TODAY FOR A TRY AT MAINTAINING 28 HOUR SCHEDULE BETWEEN SAN FRANCISCO AND NEW YORK

Flier En Route from the Pacific Reaches Reno, Nevada on Schedule; No Word from Other.

NO NEWS IS GOOD

Minneapolis, Aug. 21.—The modern "pony express" took the air today.

Carrying 800 pounds of important luggage a United States mail plane left here on a trip that is expected to terminate safely in San Francisco in twenty-eight hours, carrying letters from coast to coast in the fastest time on record. A plane on a similar mission left San Francisco almost simultaneously.

The innovation of the Post office Department recalls the days of the pioneer, when men rode swift steeds in the mad rush to carry the United States mail across the plains.

The pony express rider of old hung himself from one horse onto another at relay stations, continuing his mad gallop across the continent with scarcely a halt. The pony express rider of the sky will make similar charges. At several stations scattered across the continent the mail plane will descend and its cargo will be transferred to a fresh plane with a new pilot. No one pilot or plane will make the entire trip.

Reno, Nev., Aug. 21.—Air Mail Pilot W. H. Winslow arrived here with the first mail transcontinental mail shortly before eight o'clock, Pacific time. He left San Francisco at 8:10 a. m.

He reported the flight of 200 miles from San Francisco had been devoid of incident.

Pilot William S. Blanchfield, in another De Havilland plane, waited at the air mail field and as Winslow's plane came to a stop, packages were quickly transferred to the relay plane, which immediately took off eastward with a load of but a few minutes.

Winslow reached the landing field at 7:40 a. m., Pacific time and at 7:50 Blanchfield swooped away on his eastward journey to Elko.

His pouches of mail were taken on here and one dropped off, making a total of 21 pouches in Blanchfield's care.

New York, Aug. 20.—Uncle Sam tomorrow will make his most audacious attempt at delivering transcontinental mail in record time.

From New York a plane will wing its way westward, bound for San Francisco. From San Francisco a mail plane will speed eastward for New York. The aircraft will pass one another in the center of the continent, 2,000 miles apart.

For five days the country will have this aerial express mail service. After that time, Uncle Sam will decide whether daily transcontinental flights are to become more routine and mail pouches to be sent from Atlantic to Pacific mail postmen.

The flight schedule approved to-night calls for 20 hours elapsed flying time on the west bound trip and 28 on the east bound. The two hours difference represents the effect the prevailing westerly winds are expected to have on an airplane at this time of year.

Seven Stopping Places.
Cleveland, Chicago, Omaha, Cheyenne, Salt Lake City and Reno are the points at which the mail planes will alight to refuel or shift pilot, machine and cargo.

The only night flying will be between Chicago and Cheyenne. This piece of course will be blessed with electric lights, with incandescent lamps and even more powerful light-bulbs to guide the pilots through darkness, fog and storm.

The flying schedule, announced to-night by Postmaster Morgan, in this city, follows, all time being standard Western time.

New York 11 a. m., Eastern.
Cleveland, 4 p. m., Eastern.
Chicago, 7 p. m., Central.
Cheyenne, 4:15 a. m., Mountain.
Salt Lake City, 9 a. m., Mountain.
Reno, 2:15 p. m., Pacific.
Arrive San Francisco 4:15 p. m.

Comfortably Escorted In Plush Lounges And Easy Chairs, Miners And Operators Are Adamant

Ambassador Hotel, Atlantic City N. J., Aug. 21.—Anthracite miners and operators have reached another dead lock on the first question brought up for discussion in their renewed negotiations on wage scale.

The demand for a twenty per cent increase for cutters and a $2.00 raise for laborers met with strong resistance. Samuel B. Warriner, chairman of the Policy Committee of the employers announced today that his conference could not possibly accept the wage demand as presented. John L. Lewis, President of the United Mine Workers said the increase must be granted if the suspension of mining September 1st is to be avoided.

A report on developments sent to the United States Coal Commission for transmission to President Coolidge by the Secretary of the joint conference stated that wages were discussed but no progress made in the first meeting held here today.

The two factions resumed their deliberations here at ten o'clock this morning in the State Suite on the 12th floor of the Ambassador Hotel, high above the rolling surf, where vacationers are frolicking. The suite is luxuriously furnished with purple plush lounges and easy chairs conducive to comfort as long as they wish to stay.

WRIGHT EXPLAINS POLICY OF STATE ROAD DEPARTMENT

Harrisburg, Aug. 18.—In an interview today Paul D. Wright, Secretary of Highways, detailed the Department's policy regarding the selection of types of road construction. He referred to criticism of the Department by a Philadelphia newspaper, and declared that the Department of Highways, having in mind the conservation of the state's resources, will build pavements suited to the traffic requirements.

"This policy," he said, "is a sound one, and unassailable from the standpoint of good business sense."

Questions submitted to Mr. Wright and his answers, are as follows:

Q.—Has the Pennsylvania Department of Highways departed from the policy of building concrete roads?

A.—It has not.

Q.—Will the Department build concrete roads regardless of traffic conditions?

A.—It is the policy of the Department to construct pavements suited to the present and estimated future traffic requirements. Its specifications allows bids either on all concrete, on on concrete base with asphalt top pavement. The Department believes that it is unbusiness-like and unwise to construct a costly pavement where for 20 or 30 years to come traffic would be equally well served by a less costly pavement, such as a bituminous surface pavement, which can be put down and maintained for a very much less annual cost to the taxpayers. Most of the criticism of our policy in a recent issue of a Philadelphia newspaper is a result of the bituminous resurfacing of present stone roads, an operation which gives a serviceable pavement good for 15 to 20 years, for a character of traffic which does not justify a more costly pavement.

Q.—Have you made any investigation as to traffic conditions on various roads?

A.—The Department is making a traffic survey of the state, the purpose of which is to determine the density and character of traffic on

HELPS FOR THE MAN
WHO REALLY WANTS
TO OWN A HOME

For the man who wishes to own a home, Clearfield offers several advantages:
Steady employment.
Decent wages.
Fair treatment.
Excellent schools.
Fine water.
Modern conveniences.
Good neighbors.

To help him financially Clearfield has more agencies than the majority of cities the same size, as follows:

Three progressive, strong banks.
The Home Builders Company, a non-profit organization, The Clearfield Building and Loan Association.
The Security Building and Loan Association (the organization meeting of this association will be held this evening).
And a number of substantial citizens ready to lend a hand to the man who means business.

NO CLUE IS FOUND TO MISSING BABE STOLEN SATURDAY

New York, N. Y., Aug. 21.—Three-months-old Lillian McKenzie, the "crying baby," for whom all New York is searching, is still missing. Peter McKenzie, the father, is in a state of collapse after searching the entire night for some clue. The mother, prostrated yesterday, is in a serious condition.

Four foreigners, seen hovering around the baby carriage, which was placed in the identical spot from which the baby was kidnapped yesterday as a play for the thieves to return the baby, are under police surveillance.

An empty baby carriage stood all day today at the spot in West Eighteenth street where 3-month-old Lillian McKenzie was kidnapped Saturday. It was placed there by Peter McKenzie in hope that the kidnapper would relent and return to its precious burden.

Tonight, McKenzie trundled it slowly home, still empty, to his wife, who had kept up her courage through the day, by washing baby Lillian's clothes and telling herself over and over again that Lillian soon would be back to wear them. She recalled that an uncle kidnapped from almost the same spot years ago had been safely returned.

But Lillian still is missing, and the 100 detectives who devoted the entire day to a feverish search for her, have begun to fear that she is dead. She was a delicate infant, in whom the spark of life had been kept only by careful administration of a complicated food formula. Although the formula has been published broadcast in the hope that the kidnapper would see it and take heed, this hope was slight, for the kidnapper, police believe, was a demented woman, who stole Lillian to satisfy the mother-craving of her diseased mind.

Aiding the 100 detectives especially detailed to the search for Lillian, are all of the 12,000 police of the city, and 14,000 taxicab drivers, who have been given a description of the woman suspect and of the baby. Radio stations have sent out descriptions.

More than 100 persons telephoned the police today with information they thought might be of value in the search. Police ran down every clue, but tonight were unable to offer any hope to the distracted parents.

McKenzie visited St. Veronica's church again today and lighted fresh candles before the shrine of St. Anthony, the patron saint of the distressed. He lighted the first a few hours after Lillian disappeared. He spent the rest of today driving aimlessly about the city looking for his baby.

Mr. and Mrs. George Gray, of Clearfield, are in Trenton, Attleboro City.

54 IMPROVEMENTS

The 1923 building boom has brought a strange hold on West Side citizens and about every property owner able to get hold of carpenter or bricklayer is hard at work on a building job, judging from appearances in this busiest of all busy sections.

The Boynton addition is a real bee hive of industry and while the buildings here are not as large, commodious or substantial as in some of the richer residential districts of the town the cottages and bungalows going up are all comfortable homes for their owners and are a decided asset to the community and serve to again illustrate the phenomenal growth of the town.

While in the second precinct of the Third Ward, the subject of yesterday's story, we overlooked and failed to mention the handsome two story red brick home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fenton on West Fifth Avenue, one of the best properties in that section.

Cliff Cowdrick is also erecting a two story garage, and dwelling on the rear of his lot on West Fifth Avenue.

Boynton Addition Activities.

In making our visit to that part of the West Side omitted yesterday we went out West Front street to Mill Road where John Seibenrock, Jr., is erecting a two-story frame store building and directly across the road Newton Fetzner has a one-story ice cream and confectionery shop under roof.

On West Front street Judd Bloom is erecting a frame garage.

Just beyond Moose Creek Perry Rowles is remodeling his two-story frame dwelling, while in the rear of the Rowles lot W. A. Tibbins is occupying a neat little two story frame dwelling he just completed.

Going north on Shaw Lane in Boynton Addition we found Ralph Fetzner occupying his recently completed cottage.

Blair Owens' two story frame house adjoined it on the north.

The Moose Creek Coal Company converted the Whitmer Steel Co. office into a neat little bungalow opposite the Owens home.

Next to Owens' is the home of J. P. Jury rear completion.

A force of carpenters under S. E. Maines is erecting a two story frame dwelling for Fred Dale while the finishing touches are being given the neat little cottages of Leonard and Kenneth Spies, just above the Dale home.

John Boalich and Ed. Soliday have frame cottages underway just beyond the Spies homes, while Wilbur Shaffer has a neat two story dwelling under roof on the next cross street.

Wade Heberling and Elmer Wall also have homes underway in this vicinity.

William Gearhart has his two story frame residence nearly completed.

William Guisewhite has the foundation ready for his residence on the same street.

J. F. Maines has erected a frame garage on the rear of his lot and T. C. Watson, has the foundation walls built for a substantial addition to his home in that same corner.

Voyal Shaw has a fine two-story residence ready for the steam fitters who are installing his heating plant, which concludes the long string of improvements in Boynton Addition.

Mill Road Spruces Up

Mill Road caught the improvement spirit also. Maurice Coudriet improves the same by the addition of a neat little cottage.

Further up the road William Dent is occupying his handsome new cottage.

M. M. Condon has replaced his

FUNERAL OF MRS. SINGLETON BELL

The funeral of Mrs. Catharine McCullough Bell, wife of Judge Singleton Bell, will be held from the Bell home on West Front street, tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. The services will be conducted by Rev. H. L. Jacobs of Trinity Methodist Episcopal church, and interment will be made in Hillcrest cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Zimmerman, of Nichols street, Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Smith, and John Gaylor motored to Olean, N. Y., Sunday to see Mr. Zimmerman's brother, Clyde, who is a patient at the Olean hospital.

EDITORIAL

That "On To Reading" Band Concert is Tuesday evening, August 28th, instead of Friday evening as stated here yesterday.

But the rest of the article was alright. We know it because it is bringing results—results in cold cash—dollars from citizens who are mighty proud of our American Legion Band and believe that it is going to walk off with the "bacon" at Reading the last of this month.

The Progress Office was hardly open this morning when the sale of tickets started and while the amount of sales today was not large, it is a beginning and there is still several days to go.

The point is, however, that we should all buy our tickets early in order to let those band men know that they are appreciated and because if we do not buy tickets before that day arrives, the committee in charge will have to adopt other methods of raising the money.

Come forward, your Progress subscribers, let us send that band to Reading.

Tickets on sale at The Progress Office NOW.

Wouldn't it be fine to announce on Tuesday that the money is all in hand?

BANDIT GANG ESCAPES WITH VALUABLE MAIL TAKEN FROM OKLAHOMA TRAIN BUT NOT UNTIL AFTER HAND TO HAND FIGHT

Bartlesville, Okla., Aug. 21.—A train rolled to a stop. A volley of bullets was then sent through the door of the mail car, forcing entrance.

C. B. Weiss and W. Burch, mail clerks, true to the traditions of their service, attempted to hold to the robbers but were severely pummeled.

After rifling the car the bandits fled westward through the hill midst pointed volleys of shots from the train crew.

The bandits slugged fireman E. T. Cowers and Engineer W. O. Killeb over the head with revolvers as the sons, Kansas.

THAW RELEASED TO ENJOY ANOTHER VISIT TO MOTHER

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 21.—Harry K. Thaw, slayer of Standford White and former husband of Evelyn Nesbit who has been an inmate of the insane department of the Pennsylvania hospital, was today allowed his fourth vacation from the asylum since he was confined on May 16, 1917.

Judge Martin ordered that Thaw be released from the institution under guard of his keeper from today, August 21, to September 10. The court's action was based on a petition of Mrs. Mary C. Thaw, of Pittsburgh, the mother of Harry, setting forth that a change of environment from the routine of the hospital would be beneficial to Thaw, both as to his general health and in his treatment from a medical standpoint.

ON THE JOB FIRST FOR BAND CONCERT TICKETS

G. E. Kelly of the Singer Sewing Machine Company was the first Progress subscriber to be in for tickets this morning. He was followed by John W. Wrigley, then came Frank G. Chorpemning and J. Frank Snyder brought up the rear and took a list full. Result—$9.00.

Thanks, gentlemen, you started a good thing.

Boulevard Lighting Halted Another Slog Which Penn Public Given In Figures on Juice Cost

LAI D ON THE TABLE

Clearfield Borough Council got a stop last evening with the movement sweeping the country against the location of curb pumps for the sale of gasoline in front of automobile garages. The thing that brought matters to a head along this line was the application of Boag & Boag for permission to place a curb pump in front of their garage on Third street.

Chairman Beahan of the Highway Department recommended that the permit be issued inasmuch as permits for the establishment of many other curb pumps about town had been previously granted. Issue was taken with the statement, several councilmen stating that the present Council had refused the only request for a curb pump received the past two years.

Considerable discussion arose over the proposition, it being the general contention that Council not only had no legal right to permit the location of curb gasoline pumps on the street, but that to allow the congestion incident to the vending of gasoline on the street was dangerous and a menace to traffic. The upshot of the matter was that a resolution was adopted, which not only refused the request of Boag & Boag but directed that the owners of all pumps now installed at the curb throughout the town be directed to remove such pumps within 60 days.

Want Sidewalks Built.

Notices to build sidewalks in front of their properties on Higher avenue were ordered served on the following property owners:—Tony Casanovi, who now lives at Woodland; James Marana, Mrs. John Bowman and Samuel Fullerton.

Want Cherry Street Paved.

Borough Solicitor Urey presented request of the citizens residing on Cherry street, in the block extending from Second street to Third street for the paving of that street, stating that while all property owners had one had signed the petition for such improvement, Council could, under the law, pave the street without petition of all or two-thirds of the property owners and assess two-thirds the cost of such improvement against the abutting properties.

The paving of this block would allow traffic coming down Second street to get over onto Third without having to negotiate the "diamond" corner at Market and would relieve traffic congestion at this point. A resolution was then offered and unanimously adopted directing the borough solicitor to prepare an ordinance directing the property owners to have concrete curbs and gutters set in front of their properties, preparatory to the paving of such street.

Street Lighting Proposition Promoted

The boulevard or "white way" lighting system was the topic of considerable discussion. Some time ago the property owners at the three principal corners of the town agreed to install pedestal or boulevard lights, four to a corner, provided the borough would supply the current consumed. This was agreed to by Council in the belief that the new lights would not cost over half again or at the outside twice as much as the present arc lights are costing.

The question was taken up with the Penn Public Service Company following the securing of the agreement mentioned by Chairman Ellis of the Property Committee, who had the matter in charge, and last evening Supt. A. M. Pearson, with a couple of experts on lighting from the Westinghouse people at Pittsburgh, presented the proposition of the lighting company for the proposed installation of a "white way" extending through the business district, centering at the Court House corner and extending a block or more each way. The scheme supplied with juice from underground cables. The installation, including

By J. D. C.

Some time ago three young men from the Pottersdale region, named Anderson and Kolowski, were arrested for watching a deer lick in the woods near their home. They were brought to Clearfield and placed in jail and later released when they paid their fines of $100 and $200 each. Shortly after the story of the affair, appeared in this paper we received a letter from Pottersdale, written no doubt by the father of Anderson, in which an attempt at justification of the lick watchers was made on the ground that "everybody's doing it" down there. We did not publish the communication at the time of its receipt because we desired to interview Game Protector Kelley before publishing same. In the meantime we received the following from Mr. Anderson:

what happened to his friends, by impulse fired a shot at the point of guns he is also arrested, and the officers, who apparently believe in "safety first," had this latter youth handcuffed and all three were taken to jail, one of them not even given a chance to notify his parents what happened to him.

As for the supposed confession by the youths of having sold deer meat to a meat dealer, the story is so absurd that it would be hard to make a four-year-old child believe it. Any one that knows the only two meat dealers in the vicinity knows that they are too honest and too intelligent to deal in deer meat, even if they had been given an opportunity to do so.

But all is well that ends well. Officers have been given publicity for their bravery in upholding the law, the boys have been convicted and given a heavy fine and the REAL pot-hunters can eat their venison in peace as before.

Yet there are some of us that wonder why there is so much disrespect for law in this country.

OSCAR A. ANDERSON.

Postmaster Morgan also announced that postage would be 2 cents an ounce or fraction thereof during the five days' test. Only letters specially advertised "via air mail" would be accepted, he said.

Everything was in readiness tonight for the hop-off from New York Pilot C. Eugene Johnson, who takes the air from Hazelhurst field on Long Island, was impatient for the morning. Gas, oil and water for the leg from New York to Cleveland had been taken aboard and the machine was under heavy guard in her hangar.

Tomorrow morning 24,000 "special delivery" letters carrying complimentary stamps and weighing 575 pounds will be rushed by mail truck from the New York postoffice and stowed. Then a few first edition afternoon papers will be taken on and at 11 a. m. the take-off.

Pilot Johnson took to his cot early. He planned to give his "ship" an early final inspection. The air mail service reported today that in 6,000,000 miles of flight with cargo up to July 1 there was only one fatality. The percentage of efficiency was 96, according to postoffice officials, who compared the record of the air mail with that of one of the largest railroad carriers which operated its passenger trains only 93 per cent of schedule during the same period.

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Amick of Akron, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Smith, of Washington, D. C., are visiting H. V. Feight of Pine street.

poles, fixtures, cables, etc., to be paid for by the property owners at the rate of anywhere from $2 to $2.75 per front foot. The installation, after being placed, would then become the property of the light company, which would hereafter maintain same in proper shape and supply all renewals and repairs. The style of poles or post decided upon by Council and such as is installed in front of the Clearfield Trust Company, requires not less than a 400 candle power light and should have 600 candle power lights to give proper satisfaction. The light for each 400 candle power lamp would cost the home owner $10 per year and a 600 candle power lamp $15 per year.

The present air lights are costing $62 each per year. The total cost of street lighting now per year is approximately $4,800. Under the proposed plan of the Penn Public Service Company, with the "white way" installed, the total light bill of the borough would amount to $4,800.

After discussing the proposition from every angle, a motion was made to lay the question on the table and same was unanimously adopted.

Claims Tree Are in Roadway.

Newton P. Schuckert, of William street, presented a claim for $8 damages for repairs to his automobile which hit a piece of ballast along the railroad track and was thrown over against a shade tree at corner of William and Nichols streets, which complainant states is allowed to remain in the roadway beyond the curb line and interferes with traffic. The claim was referred to Councilman Callahan for adjustment and report.

Front Street Paving Done. Chairman Behan of Highway Department reported completion of Front street paving and said the street would be opened as soon as it had properly "cured."

DRIVER BARTLEY USED HIS HEAD

A little more evidence on that near-collision between two fire trucks on Sunday morning shows that Driver Clyde Bartley of the Second Ward truck, used exceptional skill in avoiding the smash-up as he not only had to dodge the ladder wagon but was forced to run his truck up over the curb to avoid hitting a boy who was coming down Third street on a bicycle. The situation being further complicated by a pedestrian attempting to cross the street as the fire trucks reached the corner. Driver Bartley is an experienced, cool headed driver, as was demonstrated by the manner in which he got through this maze of difficulties without damage or injury to anyone.

PLAY PARTY AT REEDSVILLE

Reedsville is having the last play party of the summer Wednesday evening both on the playground and at the Rose House. Fire Company No. 2 which has been the unofficial but active men's committee on Community Service in that part of town is definitely named host on this occasion with the regular Woman's Community Service committee which always takes charge of its part on these neighborhood affairs. There is a definite money object this time—to pay the lumber bill on the little shelter house which was erected at the beginning of the season. There will be the usual program—games with the visiting teams of other playgrounds, both boys and girls. The nights are cool now so there will be bon-fires from which the boys are gathering wood now. The out-door part of the party will last from seven till nine, after which the elders will repair to the Rose house for square dancing. Though the music is given gratis, dancers will be tagged for a small sum, the money going into the Reedsville C. S. Treasury. It is needless to state that the invitation is extended to the town.

PLAYGROUND NEWS

The lanterns which the Electric Supply Company is kindly displaying have been made by the children on the playgrounds. They are practically all original as none had ever made any before, and show much artistic ability.

It is a dangerous thing to overlook a schedule game—at least so the East End base ball team discovered when they suffered a bad defeat at the hands of Witmer Park yesterday afternoon. It seems that several of the prime players had gone black-berrying. The base ball schedule should be well known to every man on every team for each game is more than ever important now at the end of the season. A game well played and lost is no one's fault but ignorance of the scheduled games is no excuse and a game lost that way is more than lost. It is up to every boy to find out and remember exactly when every remaining game comes—and be there.

The attendance record now stands at 15,766 for playgrounds alone. The figures speak plainly enough without any comment.

AUDITOR GENERAL FINDS BANKING DEPARTMENT O. K.

Harrisburg, Pa., Aug. 21.—Auditor General Lewis today announced that he has completed the audit of the banking department, the first of the 1922 investigations which are being made in the fiscal department of the state's government.

"All receipts of money, including interest on bank deposits, seized for examination, in case receipts of steamship companies, small money lenders and others were found to have been correctly accounted for," the audit report states.

Other departments now in course of investigation by the auditor general are Treasury, Insurance and Worker's Compensation funds.

WANTS TO HELP OTHER WOMEN

Grateful for Health Restored by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Chicago, Ill.—"I am willing to write to any girl or woman who is suffering from the troubles I had before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My back always ached, so I could not go about my housework, and I had other troubles from weakness. I was this way for years, then my sister-in-law took the Vegetable Compound and recommended it to me. In the time I have been taking it and it has done wonders for me. I keep house and am able to do lots of work besides."—Mrs. HELEN SEVICH, 2711 Thomas St., Chicago, Ill.

Women suffering from female troubles causing backache, irregularities, pains, bearing-down feelings and weakness should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Not only is the worth of this splendid medicine shown by such cases as this, but for nearly fifty years this same sort of experience has been reported by thousands of women.

Mrs. Sevich is willing to write to any girl or woman suffering from such troubles, and answer any questions they may like to ask.

OH, MARY! HER HORN SPECS SHOCK LONDON; WILL ALL FOLLOW ROYAL STYLE?

KING GEORGE PRINCESS MARY PREMIER BALDWIN QUEEN MARY LLOYD GEORGE

By NEA Service.
LONDON, Aug. 20.—Wireless S. O. S. to George Harvey, American ambassador to Great Britain, vacationing back home:
Dear George: Hurry back! Mary is stealing your stuff!
(Signed) JOHN BULL.

Princess Mary, no less! The daughter of the king of England, is wearing "cheaters"! What! What! What! Absolutely—"cheaters"! You know, "George Harveys," you know!

Horn-rimmed spectacles, derided as the "badge of Yankoe identity," have been the favorite target of England's comic papers. And now Princess Mary has appeared in public wearing the "ugly atrocities"!

London society, shaken to its patent leather foundation, gaspingly asks: "What next?"

King George, maybe? Queen Mary, perhaps? Or Premier Baldwin? Or Eloyd George? "Can you imagine them wearing the things?"

ask quivering crowds that cluster in the shadow of the late Queen Victoria's monument—shuddering at the thought if she only knew!—and keep watch for the spread of the horn-rimmed spectacle fad.

• Here in London it has been repeatedly declared that in whatever other respect British conservatism might give ground before the pressure of comfortable but outlandish American devices, the true-born Briton would never be caught dead in those "ugly atrocities." London took one look at George Harvey's horn-hulced eyes and cried: Never!

Now the irreconcilables see cricket giving way to baseball, lemon squash to soda water, and "Hear! Hear!" to "Atta-boy!" Everything from flivvers to actresses is American.

Princess Mary--the quiet, modest, self-effacing young matron hitherto held up as a model for young British women--has gone and done it. Royalty has set the style--and, as always happens, what royalty wears everybody wears. Herewith, retouched photos show how some will look.

Perfect Woman's Figure.

Seventy-five per cent of the women are below the 36 standard and the rest are over. The perfect 36 figure should measure 19½ inches inside the sleeve measure. The line down the neck from the base of the collar to waist line should be 15½ inches.

An odd geographical name is often disguised by being in a foreign tongue. Take the Ladrones, for instance, a well-known group of Pacific islands. Magellan gave them this name because the natives were such inveterate cannibals, and "Thieves Island" they have remained ever since.

Punishment . . . & Crime.

In a case of assault, under the laws of Mexico, the amount of the fine or the form of punishment is fixed by the number of days the victim spends in hospital or under medical supervision. If the period exceeds six whole weeks, the fine is doubled.

Monarch's Golden Carriage.

The most splendid carriage in the world is preserved in the palace of Trianon at Versailles. It was constructed for Charles X of France. From pole to hind wheels the vehicle is thickly covered with gold, and it cost more than $200,000.

Ray Arthur Jackson of St. Louis, Mo., has just completed the initial flag of this church of Little Athens, Goddard of War, after seven months work in Paris and Lyons. It will be erected on a cliff at Paragould, Ark., as a memorial to men killed in the World War.

Removal of curb gasoline pumps is a step in the right direction, but it ought to be said that it is a step that should never have been necessary had "somebody" been on the job a few years ago. Time was when a gas pump of two dnt on the main streets did not seem to hurt anybody and many were content. It is unfortunate indeed that owners must now be put to the expense of removing them but to put it off any longer simply bucking the inevitable.

A great deal of money and trouble could be saved for everybody, individuals, business men, and taxpayers generally, if there was a little more looking into the future.

Recently there has been considerable activity towards boulevard lighting; a very proper improvement which will add thousands of dollars to the wealth of the city and millions to the opinion that outsiders will form of the city when they pass through it.

Some of the equipment is on the ground but not yet installed. We do not know why it is not yet installed and have little concern with that feature of the proposition anyhow.

What we would like to know, and what will save some money later, is whether or not the type of installation, as to wiring and the location of the posts, with reference to the sidewalk and streets (which latter will undoubtedly be widened in the near future) is suitable for a comprehensive lighting scheme without doing the whole work of installing over again.

The proper councilmanic committee should make a statement to the public on these points.

One need look no further for signs of general prosperity among a people or for evidence of the right kind of citizenship in the first precinct of the Third Ward and that territory lying adjacent to that precinct in Lawrence Township, where no less than a half hundred are now engaged in the direction of homes and making improvements to property they already own.

It is no sign of community weal when a handsome mansion shall here or there or a whole block of pretentious residences rear their roofs skyward. That is only a sign that the gods have avowed someone or that an estate has been divided. It adds little to the city but appearance and an increased valuation.

The really wonderful and beneficial thing about this section of the city covered in J. D. C.'s story on the front page today, is that practically without exception, the homes being built and the improvements being made, are owned by laboring people, if not for wages and salary, for themselves at the several occupations at which man is both employer and the employee.

In every sense they are homes, hallowed places where future Clearfielders are being raised to citizenship, with the proper ideals of home owning and family protection.

It would indeed be a worth-while trip for Clearfielders to take a run over through that section of our rapidly growing city and see how they are doing things for the city.

Congratulations, you West Siders, we'll soon have to move the Borough Building over that way.

MARYLAND FARMERS WILL GET TOGETHER

Progress in Organization Attracting Much Attention.

Less than three months ago the farmers of Maryland launched the Maryland Farm Bureau federation. Today there are 12 strongly organized county farm bureaus with 125 local organizations, which the state and with an approximate membership of 6,500 paid-up members.

This progress in farm organization is attracting widespread attention throughout the country for it shows a strong undercurrent of optimism and determination of farmers to get together and pull themselves out of the present economic quagmire.

Each farmer has paid a $10 membership in his organization and it is estimated that there will be over 10,000 farmers working together in the state organization by the end of the year.

According to M. Molein Stewart, secretary and treasurer of the state organization, one of the big projects which is interesting to the farm people of the state at this time is co-operative egg marketing. A state-wide survey of the egg and poultry situation is being started.

Plans have been made to market Maryland's egg crop this year through the Atlantic Coast Poultry Producers' association and when 100,000 hens are represented in the county egg association of Maryland which are to be formed, the Maryland state exchange will be perfected with a branch sales agency at Baltimore.

The Maryland Farm Bureau federation is to take the lead in the organization of the county egg shipping units. Co-operative grading, handling and shipping are included in the plan. The climatic conditions of the Atlantic seaboard are especially conducive to poultry raising and the egg marketing industry has for years been one of major importance to Maryland farmers.

The success of the New Jersey poultry producers who got together in a co-operative way, and which movement later developed into the Atlantic Coast Poultry Producers' association, furnishes a demonstration that the Maryland and poultry products can profit by uniting with the Atlantic coast group.

The Maryland Farm Bureau federation believes in coupling up its activities with the co-operative marketing movement which is attracting such wide interest at the present time. Although not generally considered a large wheat growing state, Maryland farmers had wheat growing its into large crop rotation plan, very well and they are now taking steps toward better grain marketing. They are also considering a live stock survey looking toward co-operative live stock selling as a part of the program.

The Maryland Farm Bureau federation is also extending its social and financial support to a campaign of the tobacco growers of the state to increase their membership in the Maryland Tobacco Growers' association.

The farm bureau movement in Maryland has its conception in one of the nation's greatest not far from some very successful county farm bureaus in Ohio and West Virginia. With over half a century of Maryland history, the county farm bureaus have been established with a state farm bureau organization. Maryland farmers are the perfect of a plan toward which they have been looking for the generations.

E. P. Conley of Washington county is president of the state organization and Mr. M. M. Stewart of Anne Arundel county is secretary. Both of these men have been placed upon a committee, appointed by Gov. Albert G. Ritchie, which committee is to help to formulate a definite program for the general welfare of the agricultural interests of the state. Secretary Stewart is helping the counties in perfect strong farm bureau local organizations and in this is securing the co-operation of local grange organizations already established and the endorsement of the state agricultural extension experts and county workers.

SELL FIRST IRISH POTATOES

Twenty Minutes Was Time Required to Complete Deal by Louisiana Farm Bureau.

The first crop of Irish potatoes sold under the newly formed Louisiana Farm Bureau Irish Potato Growers' exchange was shipped by the Houma association of Terrebonne Parish, according to A. G. Hamilton, sales manager of the exchange. The potatoes were sold to a St. Louis firm, on a basis of 100 bushels, the time required to complete the sale by wire being approximately 20 minutes from the time that the head office was notified that the car was being loaded.

A cargo of 12 mechanical graders have been ordered for the exchange through the purchasing department of the state farm bureau, and every carload of potatoes shipped will be graded. One grader goes to each of the 12 local associations federated in the exchange.

The various locals have also placed orders through the farm bureau for 60,000 potato bags, which are now being distributed. Regular shipments will be made by the exchange from this time forward until the Louisiana crop is marketed. It is announced. The exchange has approximately 200 carloads under contract, and indications now are that fancy prices will be received owing to the general shortage of the spring crop.

POLICEMAN HAS A GRIEVANCE

Asks Plaintively How He Can Be Supposed to Know How Fast One Can Walk.

"How far can you walk in five minutes?" asked the policeman.
"Oh, I don't know. A block, two blocks, three maybe."

"Maybe four or five," supplemented the policeman. "But maybe somebody else, who isn't as young as you are, could only walk one."

"Now what I'm getting at is this: People are all the time coming up to me and asking to be directed to some place. And when I point the way they invariably ask, 'How long a walk is it?'"

"Well, that's all right if it's only a short distance. Then I can count up the number of blocks in my head and tell them. But if it's further I say it's a 10-minute walk or a 20-minute walk. But the trouble is how am I going to know how fast they walk? It's a proposition. A man will ask where some store is, and when I tell him he's way past it he gets mad and says that a fellow back there told him it was a 15-minute walk. While another will not be anywhere near the place he's going to, but when I tell him that he'll say, 'But a man down the line said it was only a six-minute walk!'"

An old lady interrupted the policeman at this point, inquiring the way to Blank square.

"Straight ahead, ma'am. You can't miss it."

"Is it far?" asked the old lady.

"About a ten-minute walk."

He watched her stride away, her little legs moving at an amazing speed for one so aged.

"Now look at her," exclaimed the policeman. "Who would have thought she'd walk like that? She'll be there within three minutes, but she'll go right on and not stop till she's walked ten. Some people are so literal!"

FACTS ABOUT "SEA ANIMALS"

Interesting Information Given by Writer—Oysters and Their Enemies—Limpet's Moring Instinct.

In "Animals of the Sea," F. Martin Duncan, F. Z. S., tells the reader that young oysters enjoy but 48 hours' freedom as moving creatures; then they settle down for life. Among the oyster's enemies is the starfish. An invasion of "five-fingers" will sometimes destroy a whole bed of oysters in a single night. Some most interesting points gleaned from this book include:

The female lobster has been known to produce 100,000 eggs at a time. Limpets go off traveling expeditions at night, but by a wonderful homing instinct, return to exactly the same spot on their "home" rock. Whelks have from 220 to 250 teeth each, the wrinkle possesses a set of 8,500, but the dental outfit of the "Cyllindrella Shell" is 750,000 teeth. The sea urchin has four different kinds of spines, each with a specialized function: weapons, poison-bearing, "cleavers," and cleaners. A giant clam will weigh 550 pounds. A 54-pound ling was found to possess 28,361,000 eggs.

Fail in Love After Marriage.

Ye Ling-Tung, the Chinese scholar, said at a Boston dinner party: "You Americans let your young people, full in love, and afterward they marry. We Chinese, on the other hand, marry our young people, and let them afterward get acquainted. You prefer your ways to ours, and certainly your way does produce the most divorces."

"The two ways," Mr. Ling-Tung went on, "might be compared to two kettles of water. The first kettle—yours—is taken at boiling point from the fire by marriage, and it cools off very rapidly. The second—ours—is a kettle of cold water which marriage puts on the fire, and ever afterward it keeps getting warmer and warmer, so that, at the end of 50 years or so, all Chinese couples are really in love."—Behoboth Sunday Herald.

Odd Method of "Saving."

Rosa Bonheur used to say that her youth was one of great poverty; then she would add some groll stories about the family method of regulating its finances. The method was a collection of odds and ends and M. Bonheur knew how to turn that disorder to account. When he received money for his work he would take a handful of coin and throw it at random about the room. Then in times of stress, when there was apparently not a sou left in the house, the entire family would set to work searching in nooks and corners. Sometimes they would find a five-franc piece, and that would ward off starvation.

What He Wondered.

The happy family were seated around the table eating their dinner when Bobby, the youngest son, broke the silence by asking: "Dad, could a measuring worm measure the inside of your stomach?" "Why do you ask such a silly question while we are eating?" spoke the father.

"Oh, nothing; only I just wondered if that one that was on the lettuce you just ate would measure your stomach."

Protective Coloring.

Black—Was Miss Scollops embarrassed when you made that faux pas at the dance last night?
Blue—That's rather hard to say. She had so much paint on her face that I couldn't tell whether she was blushing or not.

REDUCTION IN PRICES BY WILLYS-OVERLAND

Notification of Cut in Willys-Overland Line Surprises Motor Industry.

Toledo, Ohio, August 18.—John N. Willys, President of the Willys-Overland Company, Toledo, Ohio, today issued a release in automobile circles by his announcement of immediate price reductions and great improvements in the 1923 Willys-Overland lines.

This action embracing a drop in price on the Willys-Knight touring and roadster models from $1285 to $1175; F. O. B. factory and on the Willys-Knight Coupe Sedan from $1695 to $1550, came as a distinct surprise to the automobile industry and motoring public in view of the advance in price made by not a few manufacturers in announcing their 1924 models.

The new values in Willys-Knight and Overland cars are the direct result of the wonderful sales and production records made by the Willys-Overland Company this year, eclipsing any previous period in its history, which determined the officials of the company to share with the public the appreciable saving in costs made possible by an enormous increase in business.

Mr. Willys added that in every detail all the advantages of the Willys-Knight car have been retained, while improvements have been added, making this car, powered with the famous Willys-Knight sleeve-valve motor, a bigger value than ever before.

This announcement has great significance because it marks a new valuation record for automotive products in the face of a generally rising market in raw materials.

PIANO MAKERS BEHIND WITH ORDERS

The Casper, Wyoming Tribune, mentions a former Clearfield boy L. J. Gulich, of Third Ward, in the following item:

"Leading piano makers throughout the east including all those represented by the Chas. E. Wells Music company, are behind in their orders, and working overtime to supply the demand, according to L. E. Gulich, Casper manager for the Chas. E. Wells Music company, who has returned with Mrs. Gulich from a tour lasting over a month, during which he inspected many factories.

At Boston Mr. Gulich visited the home of the Chittenden piano company, still used in the perfection of instruments for which many companies have substituted machines. The Amico recording rooms were visited in New York City, the Haines Bros. and Franklin piano factories at East Rochester, N. Y., and the Kurtzman piano plant at Buffalo. On his return Mr. Gulich visited the Gulbransen piano factory at Chicago, the largest in the United States. All these makes are handled in Casper by the Wells company. The factory inspection proved highly interesting to Mr. Gulich, who is an accomplished pianist with keen appreciation for the business from an artist's standpoint.

During his trip east he visited relatives and transacted business for the Wells company, getting a line on new models and improvements which will revert to the benefit of both the firm and its many patrons."

KLAN HIT BY NEW YORK COURT'S

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 21.—The Ku Klux Klan and Kameela, its sister order, were today permanently enjoined from continuing membership incorporation in New York state when the final order of Supreme Court Justice Daley was filed in the office of the county clerk here.

Progress Editorial For Women

NO MEDALS FOR THESE

By FLORENCE DAVIES

The United States army gives medals for bravery.

So does the Carnegie Hero Fund.

But there are some kinds of courage which never win any medals.

The other day a woman saved a life with this kind of courage, but her name will never appear on the front page of a paper and no one will ever pin a medal on her breast.

She had courage enough not to mind her own business. She didn't call it that. She says it in the vernacular: I had the nerve to butt in, is the way she puts it. "It takes courage sometimes to yak being told to mind your own business. But I am willing to risk being sat on, if once in a while I can be of real help to another."

It seems that the baby across the street never thrived. The months went by and the child grew paler and thinner and more sickly. She was virtually fading away before the eyes of every one and no one seemed to be able to do anything about it. Then she had trouble with her teeth.

"And," said the woman who didn't mind her own business, "I positively knew that something was wrong with her food. I could see from the looks of her, and the size of her and the fact that her teeth weren't getting the elements that should be in them."

Her mother adored her, but didn't know how to feed her. That was all.

"And so," explained the woman who has courage, "I just walked across the street and told that woman what I knew about babies from having three of my own, and from battling to save one that everyone said would never live."

"I didn't know the woman very well; in fact, I just had a nodding acquaintance. But I went right over and rang the bell anyhow. We talked babies for an hour and a baby specialist is studying the diet of the child and the roses are now last beginning to bloom in her cheeks. So there is once where courage paid."

Handing out free advice is dangerous business. Most people do not like it. They prefer to do things in their own way and for that matter, they have a perfect right to do so.

Perhaps they have learned to dread the neighborhood neighbor who type of woman who never suffers from a lack of courage when it comes to "butting in." Her community consciousness and sense of public responsibility have fairly run wild and she goes to seed. And so she defeats her own purpose because when it comes to "butting in," she has come to dread it.

But what if the people who aren't a bit afraid to go out of their way to help when the occasion really demands it. Half the time you may find that your help is scorned.

WILL CONDUCT POPPY SALE

Auxiliary to Co-Operate With Legions in Campaign—All Urged to Wear Flower on Memorial Day.

"Wear a poppy on Memorial day." This is the message to all good Americans from Mrs. Edna M. Barcus of Indianapolis, Ind., chairman of the American Legion Auxiliary poppy campaign committee. The auxiliary has decided to co-operate with the Legions in the campaign which is to be conducted a few days prior to May 30.

The poppies—stiff replicas of the real flower—bearing the official emblem of the American Legion, are to be sold in a public campaign opening a few days before Memorial day. Funds obtained from this source will be used by local posts of the American Legion for service work, erection of memorials, and for donations to the $101,000 endowment fund providing annual decoration of graves of American dead in Europe. A certain portion of this fund which will accrue to national headquarters of the Legion will be devoted to their service work, in caring for the claims of disabled and troubled men, seeking relief through the agency of the Legion's national office.

Mrs. Edna M. Barcus.

In a recent message to members of the 5,700 units of the auxiliary scattered throughout the United States, Mrs. Barcus said:

"I know that in your hearts you are anxious to show that you remember our glorious dead; that you are anxious to pay a tribute of respect and admiration for those who fought in the war. Let us on Memorial day unite in a spirit of splendid brotherhood, and patriotism and in outward sign, in memory of those who, fulfilling the noblest traditions of their country, have written another beautiful chapter in American history. The poppy of Flanders is a fitting emblem to perpetually remind us and unflinchingly teach coming generations of the debt to those who valiantly saved the light of liberty for us."

LEGION HOME FOR ORPHANS

Kansas Organization Is Offered $50,000 Acres and $25,000 Cash Toward Proposed Institution.

As a memorial to his two sons who died in the service of their country with the Thirty-fifth division, Daniel Diney of Independence, Kan., has offered the American Legion of Kansas $50,000 acres of land and $25,000 in cash as a start toward the erection of a Legion home for the orphans of ex-servicemen and women. Mr. Diney is an oil man and has taken this method of expressing his better in the Legion and of paying fitting tribute to his sons and their comrades-at-arms who gave the lives for their country.

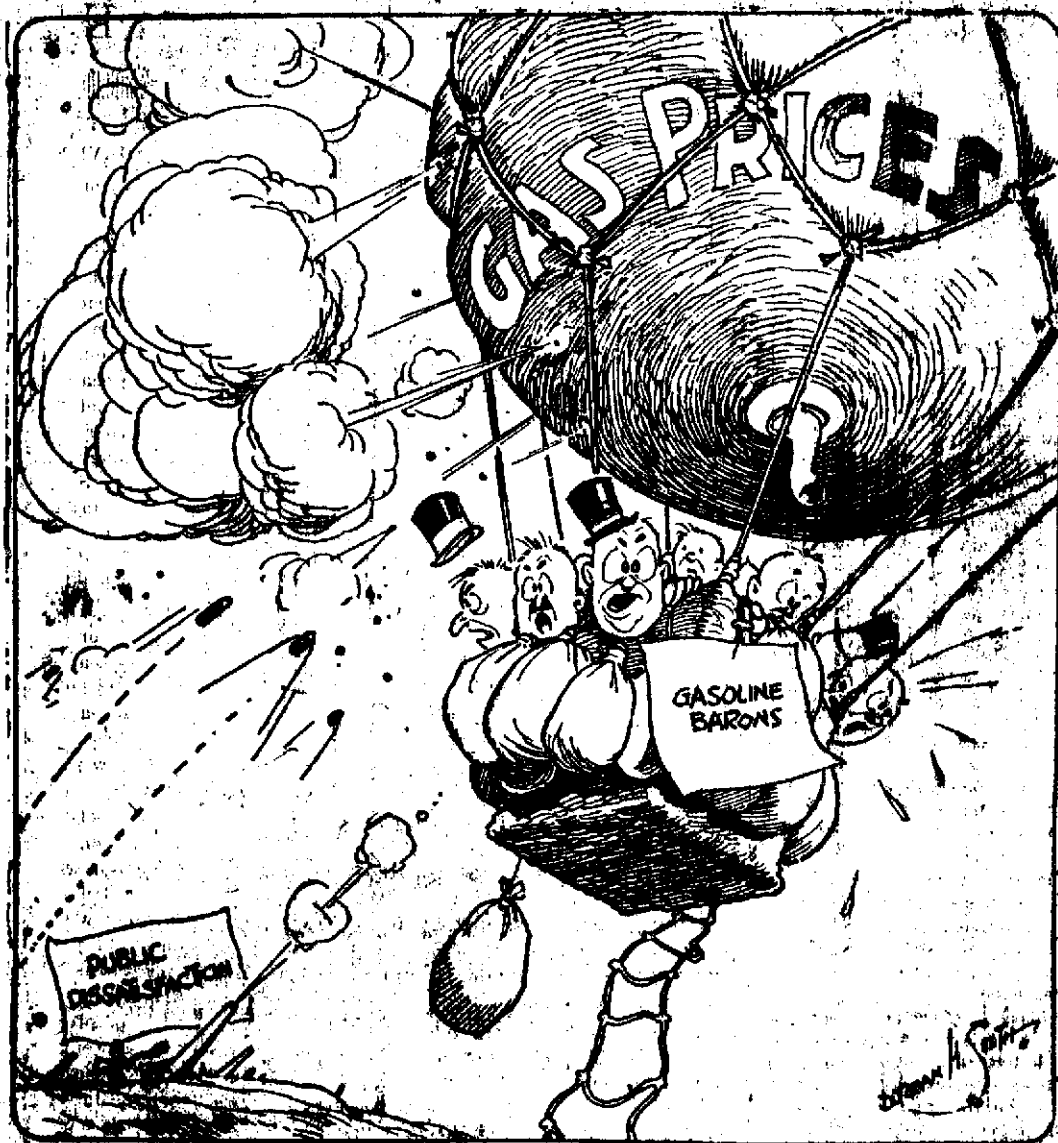

"The Kansas department of the Legion is inspired by Mr. Diney's gift," says Commissioner W. P. MacLean, "to remove doubt in behalf of the children. It has long been a dream of the state, to undertake some constructive program for the establishment of an orphan's home, and this gift makes a realization of the dream seem immediately possible."

"Here is a chance," says MacLean, "to do something big for the Legion and for Kansas. The national headquarters of the Legion is already considering the proposition of establishing a national orphan's home. It has appointed an orphan's home committee of which a Kansas man is chairman. Kansas can get something that will focus the attention and hold the hearts of the Legion to Kansas to a vastly greater extent, and that is the home and training school for our Legion children. We can get it by taking advantage of this big start that has been offered to us by Mr. Diney, and by going to work at once and establishing a school that will soon be recognized, taken over and supported by the national organization."

A citizens' committee at Independence has been organized and has offered its services in co-operation toward obtaining a fund to erect the first building on the site. The proposed orphanage would be composed of several cottages instead of one large building, with the idea of making it a home rather than a formal institution, under the plans now being considered.

HEARD ALONG THE BANKS OF THE MOSHANNON

Harry Dign, of this place, was arrested for stealing a car during the firemen's convention at Clearfield and later was found to have a still in an isolated section of Rush township, and was also arrested for violating the liquor-law. Monday he was given a hearing before Justice of the Peace Thomas Ryan and plucked under $1,500 bail. On visiting the place where the still was located the police found 150 pounds of sugar, three barrels of mash and other ingredients used in making the poisonous concoction.

Tony Lake, who resides near the port, and who was paroled by Judge

Swigley, of Bellefonte, for driving a car while intoxicated, was again picked up by police here driving his car all over the local streets Sunday. He also tried to make his car ascend a telephone pole. He was taken to Bellefonte Monday afternoon by Chief of Police Brink and will have to talk to the judge about it.

The Swarthmore Chautauqua closed its week of entertainment in Philipsburg Monday evening with a full tent of enthusiastic patrons. A fine musical program was rendered, while Opie Read delivered a fine message on "Human Nature and Politics."

WEST SIDE A BEE HIVE

houses destroyed by fire last fall with a comfortable little two story dwelling.

William D. Dale, who also lost his home in last fall's fire, replaced it with another this summer.

Grover Hubler added a commodious front porch to his home adjoining Dale's.

W. A. Knechtberger is erecting a frame dwelling on the extra lot at his place.

Paul Morrison has a cellar dug out ready for the masons to begin the wall of his home, just above Billy Carter's.

Arnell Fister has completed and just moved into a neat little two story frame home, across the road from the Morrison property.

Paradise Road Shines

The Paradise road, or extension of Turnpike Avenue, which has been improving rapidly since the paving was completed a couple of years ago, is again the scene of a most noteworthy improvement, which is also a barometer of the town's growth in a business way. This is the enlargement of the Collins green house plant. W. A. Collins, the proprietor, is adding to his plant by the erection of an additional outdate green house. The new building, which will contain the very latest equipment, is 32x180 feet in size. It is already under roof and will add considerably to the capacity of Mr. Collins' overtaxed plant.

He also added a two story addition to his residence, is building a handsome big portico and will have the completed property situated, which will make the Collins' greenhouse property one of the show places of that section.

Carl Cochran has the foundation ready for his new home just beyond the Clearfield hospital.

Beyond the Collins place, Charles Pool has just completed a two story frame cottage.

Frank Fulton is also erecting a frame cottage beyond the Pool home. Walter Fargo has added a story to the rear of his frame dwelling opposite the hospital.

McBride street residents couldn't resist the general improvement in the community and George Carter built a two story addition to his home at the upper end of this street.

His brother Lee Carter, adjoining property, found idle carpenters enough to supply him with a neat new front porch.

Grover Fetzer also improved his property with a new front porch this summer.

Barclay Street Also In It

Some worth while improvements are being made on Barclay street. Starting at the north end we find two neatly appointed frame bungalows erected by Lewis Demi, both of which were occupied as soon as finished a few weeks ago.

Ed Wheeler is putting the finishing touches to his frame bungalow.

Hannah Street Folks At It Too
Fred Dale has a fine brick residence well underway on Hannah street just above Turnpike avenue.

Further up the street Contractor Frank Conklin has his brick layers about completing the brick work on a fine home for Harry A. Myers.

Martin Street Has Two

But two new dwellings are underway on Martin street and both of these are the property of Emmitt Lease. They are brick cases. The brick work is completed on the house on the north side of the street, while that on the south side is about ready for the brick.

Two Big Construction Jobs

Contractor Ashley Rishell is well along with his big addition to or second unit of the Clearfield Textile Company's plant on Turnpike avenue. This addition, which was referred to at length when the contract was awarded last fall when completed before the snow flies, will increase the capacity of the silk velvet mill almost one-half and will be a big addition to the town.

West Side Church
"Walking Right Up"
Contractors Hobaugh, of Butler, Pa., who have the contract for the erection of the West Side Methodist congregation's $150,000 brick church, are progressing rapidly with the work. In fact one can see the new edifice "walking right up," the brick layers being well along with the brick work for the first floor.

While enthusiastically energetic in forwarding the material development of their church, this hardworking congregation refuses to take a chance on slowing the devil to get the jump on them while engrossed in their building and have a frame tabernacle under roof on Nichols street adjoining Boyce's store.

On the upper end of Nichols street Richard E. Shaw has started the foundation for his new home which he will erect at corner of West Seventh avenue and Nichols street.

Frank Thompson this summer added a frame garage to his property at corner of Martin and Park street, Merrill Street Garage Nearly Ready

The new brick garage and storage warehouse of W. E. Holmes, Jr., located at the corner of Merrill and William streets, is rapidly nearing completion under direction of Contractor Cliff Cowdrick. This building is 55x100 feet in size, two stories in height and will be a big addition to the section of town.

The development of the West Side the past two or three years has been simply marvelous, as the long list of this year's improvements, printed yesterday and yesterday, plainly shows.

Is old Clearfield in her stride headed for the 20,000 goal within five years? Well! We'll say she is. One of the other wards will be taken up tomorrow.

Mrs. Clair Dufford, who underwent an operation for appendicitis at the Clearfield hospital on Wednesday, is improving very nicely at this writing.

Apt Description.
The children of the neighborhood like to congregate at Esther's home because her mother and father are interested in children's affairs and make it exceedingly pleasant for them. One day on her return from there she remarked: "I like to play there 'cause it isn't a mother and father house—it's a little girl's house."

Two Firemen Killed in Battle With Fire At Old Brooklyn Masonic Hall

New York, Aug. 21.—Two firemen were killed and forty-seven injured today when the old Masonic Hall in Brooklyn collapsed while burning.

The dead are Raymond Farrell and James Sullivan. When the eight-story building fell forty-nine firemen were buried in debris or hit by flying shingles. There were many remarkable escapes and rescues. The building covered a city block and was being used as a dance hall at the time of the fire.

MRS. WILBUR MOORE DIES

Mrs. Juliet Wall Moore, wife of Wilbur Moore, died about 4 o'clock this morning at her home in Curwensville. The deceased, who was about 70 years of age, formerly resided in Clearfield, where she had a host of friends, who were sadly shocked by the news of her sudden death.

The funeral will be held from the Friends church at the various roads. The first extensive count was taken in May; the second in July. These gave us an idea of the Spring and Summer traffic. Other counts will be made during the fall and winter.

WRIGHT EXPLAINS

Q—What is the object of this traffic census?

A—Simply to determine the type of road necessary not only to carry traffic at this time, but in the future. The survey will include an estimate of the future traffic density and its character, taking into consideration the feeding from adjoining territory and the future industrial, mining, agricultural and other influences.

Q—What is your idea in resurfacing some of the present macadam roads with bituminous surface?

A—This improvement, where justified by present and estimated future light traffic requirements, will enable the state to improve more miles of roads and lift more people out of the mud than if the money were all concentrated in the construction of costly highways.

Q—Isn't it safe to assume that a costly road some day will be the right type, no matter what present conditions may be?

A—It is ridiculous to assume that roads of costly type are necessary in Pennsylvania. I have in mind a contract awarded in Pennsylvania in 1919 for three and a quarter miles of 18-foot concrete with five foot shoulders. This short road section is a concrete island in an otherwise entirely unimproved highway 45 miles long. It was built at a cost of $186,715.25. For miles on either side of it is a narrow, rocky road; and this 18-foot improvement, equipped with concrete horse troughs, stands out like a sore thumb. That the type is entirely too costly for the traffic which uses the highway is evidenced by the traffic census for May and July. The average daily traffic over this improvement in May was 100 cars, of which nine were trucks. The average daily traffic in July was 175 cars, of which 20 were trucks. A bituminous surface treated macadam road would be sufficient on that route; and at 1919 prices $158,715 would have built eight miles of such road, thus giving a hard surfaced road to many more people; in other words eliminate eight miles instead of three miles of mud road. It is just as absurd to say that all pavements should be constructed of concrete as to say that because 13-ton trucks are permitted by law to operate on the State highways that everybody who needs a truck should buy a 13-ton truck whether it is in excess of need or not.

Q—What is the yearly cost of bituminous surfaced macadam roads?

A—The method followed by the mathematicians of the Philadelphia newspaper in figuring the cost of maintenance, interest, sinking fund and total yearly cost on bituminous surfaced macadam roads is subject to a little criticism. In the first place these mathematicians assumed 10 years as the life of such a road. As a matter of fact under light traffic and with adequate maintenance these roads will last 20 years (the average would be in the neighborhood of 15 years.) When the mathematicians came to the interest charge, in spite of the fact that they had provided for yearly deduction for sinking fund purposes, they figure the yearly interest charge on the full cost for the entire life of the pavement, which is hardly proper.

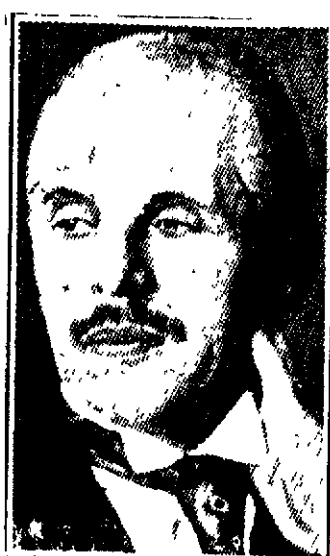

Q—What method of calculation would you suggest?

A—The correct way would be to figure the interest each year on the cost, less the total sinking fund deductions up to that year which include the usual three per cent interest on the sinking fund. But when the newspaper experts added their items they made their total $14,184 as the annual cost per mile, instead of $4,184. Our method of figuring would be: Original cost, $21,150; yearly sinking fund charge, for 15 years, $1,137; average yearly interest charge $1,058; yearly maintenance cost, $500. This is a total of $2,695, as compared with the Philadelphia newspaper's total of $14,184. Instead of leaving a debt of $2,465,000, as stated by the newspaper, the debt would all be paid off. This, of course, is all elementary, and it is unfortunate that the people of the state were misinformed.

Q—What do you suggest for heavy traffic?

A—There is no doubt whatever that for heavy traffic requirements the best is none too good, and this Department believes that concrete, or asphalt, or granite block on a concrete base, represent the most practical types of durable pavement that can be constructed.

Q—What do you say as to the suitability of asphalt on a concrete base for state highway purposes?

A—I have only to point to the fact that asphalt pavements have been in use for more than forty years in practically every large city in the country, New York and Philadelphia included, under the most severe traffic duty. And so far as we have been able to find out, no concrete base six inches thick has ever failed from compression even though the standard practice in most cities is a mix of 1-3-6, instead of the stronger mix of 1-1½-5 used by the Highway Department for concrete base purposes.

Q—What is the life of an asphalt pavement?

A—There are asphalt pavements twenty to forty years old that have not been resurfaced and are in good condition. Concrete has not had so long a test, but except in the case of repairing we consider it to be equally as good in every respect. We believe in our policy of alternate bids that the Department is justified in awarding contracts for asphalt on a concrete base when the asphalt price is the lower.

Q—The Philadelphia newspaper refers to the "changed policy" of the Department in constructing bituminous surfaced roads. What do you say as to that?

A—Because we are openly contracting for the resurfacing of bituminous surfaced roads as opposed to the practice of the past administration of resurfacing this type of road with its own maintenance organization, attention is called to the fact that such work is being done. The policy of the Department now is to do this work by contract wherever the nature of it is such that careful estimates can be made and, therefore, close competitive bidding obtained. I think most everyone realizes that work performed by forces of the state, or of any political subdivision, can be performed more economically and efficiently by private business agencies, provided this work is of a nature that will permit of competitive bidding.

The past administration constructed with its own maintenance forces approximately 800 miles of bituminous surfaced macadam roads. The cost of performing this work and the fact that this character of road was being quite generally constructed did not get to the public notice because it was performed by the maintenance forces.

Q—Has the Pennsylvania Department of Highways any knowledge of the Bates Test Road built by the Illinois Highway Department?

A—Out in Illinois they have been conducting an interesting and exhaustive series of tests on various forms of hard surfaced roads. There has resulted much information of value, most of which confirms existing opinions, although developing some new theories. It has been watched by us with much interest. A representative of the Department reof the present administration of the Department of Highways. For traffic heavy in character and frequent in number a costly type of pavement is justified. A less costly pavement, however, will in many cases answer all the requirements for traffic light in character and infrequent in number. The policy of constructing pavements suited to the traffic requirement is a sound one, and unassailable from the standpoint of good business sense.

The Motor Oil

for summer runs

THINK of the incessant punishment your motor oil takes on a two-hundred-mile tour, as compared with its easy task over the average twenty or thirty miles you drive daily about town!

Atlantic engineers offer you complete motor protection in the longer-lasting, higher-heat-resisting oil they've recently perfected. Atlantic will not break down under long-continued exposure to the terrific heat of the motor. It means better sheathing of cylinder walls; better separation of bearing surfaces; better sealing of pistons—a smoother-running, better-powered, longer-lasting repairless motor.

Are not these things worth asking definitely for Atlantic Motor Oil? Easy to buy—thousands of dealers sell it.

Atlantic dealers have the official Atlantic guide as to the correct type of oil for your motor—Atlantic Medium, Atlantic Heavy, Atlantic Special Heavy, or Atlantic Polarine.

Mud Slide In the Missouri River Deprives Omaha of Drinking Water Supply

Omaha, Neb., Aug. 21.—A serious water famine was caused here today when a mud bank in the Missouri River caved in just about the intake pipes at the Florence pumping station, filling all city mains with muddy water.

The mud was so thick all laundries in the city were forced to close. Many other industries will be forced to suspend.

A near riot occurred at Elmwood Park, where several thousand persons gathered around the seven artesian wells for drinking water.

This is the week when the preparations are being made by students who are going away to school for the annual exodus.

Possibly you have some one who is going away and to whom you wish to make some little gift to carry with them for use during the school year.

We have many things that will be appreciated by the go-to-school and you'll be surprised at the lowness of the price. And you'll also be surprised at the variety of gifts that we have for your selection.

A fourth of all the children in all the schools lack the most vital weapon of all—Good Eyesight.

ARE YOU SENDING THE WHOLE CHILD TO SCHOOL?

Everybody worth loving at all loves children. You'd horrowp the man who mistreated one. Yet has it ever occurred to you parents that through neglect of their eyes you may be subjecting your children to the most cruel abuse conceivable?

Five million school children in this country—a fourth of all the children in all the schools—are not equipped for the work. And what they lack is the most vital weapon of all—good eyesight.

There is a duty here and that duty is plainly the parents'. Your child's chance in life may depend upon your taking action now in this matter of his eyesight.

Wellworth Windsor spectacles are suited to an active child's needs. We guarantee the most careful examination, one moreover that will fascinate the child. Do not delay a moment in getting the facts about your child's eyes and in acting upon them promptly for the sake of his future.
